Berger Executive Resigns; Board Aware of Job Ahead

Berger Hospital's Board of Governors last night accepted the resignation of Miss Ellen Leist as hospital superintendent.

Miss Leist submitted the letter of resignation to Mayor Ben H. Gordon, chairman of the governing body. Her decision to quit the post she has held for about six years was accepted and a committee was named to find a successor.

Her letter noted the decision was based on a careful consideration of administrative conditions at the hospital. She requested the resignation be effective as soon as a replacement can be obtained, but in no event not later than Jan. 1, 1966.

Miss Leist explained that it is her most sincere wish for Berger Hospital to become the service institution it should be in this community.

IN ACCEPTING the resignation, the governors passed a motion extending appreciation and thanks to Miss Leist for her long service and devotion to duty.

The superintendent's decision tends to compound the task now facing the Board of Governors. The ultimate aim has been toward finding ways to avoid closing the hospital's emergency room and contemplated curtailment of Maternity Wing service.

Defeat of a half-million levy at the Nov. 2 election prompted the Board to announce last week that emergency room facilities will be closed Dec. 1 unless additional operating funds are made available. Members have said the same may be in store for the Maternity Wing if the first step does not improve Berger's financial crisis.

Determined to meet the problems head-on, the governors as a body resolved to tighten the belt and move forward in establishing a program to overcome the financial difficulties, plus name a new superintendent - administrator.

One of the first steps in this direction will be a joint meeting tentatively scheduled for Thursday at the Courthouse. Invited to participate will be the Pickaway County Board of Commissioners and members of City Council. Mayor Gordon will complete pre-meeting arrangements.

Mayor Gordon said one objective of the coordinated session should be to present all available information on finances and offer serious and constructive thought on how Berger's operating deficit can be overcome. The hospital's general fund currently is in arrears by about $35,000.

ALTHOUGH the hospital governors have indicated an Emergency Room closing appears imminent unless additional

"NO GUARANTEE" AGAINST ANOTHER BLACKOUT — Under orders from President Johnson, Joseph C. Red China Says Soviet 'Collaborates' with LBJ

TOKYO (AP) — Red China said today the Soviet Union tried to end the Viet Nam war early this year "in tacit agreement and close collaboration" with President Johnson.

"Since (the Soviets) are cooperating so closely with the U.S. imperialists in united action, it is, of course, impossible for (Chinese) Marxist-Leninists to join in and take 'united action' with them," the Chinese said.

The Chinese, in an 18,000-word article in the party theoretical journal Red Flag, said the Soviet peace moves started in January when Soviet leaders transmitted to Communist North Viet Nam a U.S. demand that it stop supporting the Viet Cong, stop supplying it with guns and stop attacks on the cities of South Viet Nam.

The article outlined these other Soviet overtures and the responses: In February, Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, en route home from North Viet Nam, stressed in talks with Chinese leaders in Peking "the need to help the United States find a way out of Viet Nam."

"This was firmly rebutted," the Chinese said, and "we expressed the hope that the new leaders of the Soviet Communist party would support the struggle of the Vietnamese people and not make a deal with the United States on the question of Viet Nam."

Kosygin agreed, but "the new leaders of the Soviet Communist party would support the struggle of the Vietnamese people and not make a deal with the United States on the question of Viet Nam."

Marcos Lead Expands in Manila Poll

MANILA (AP)—The vote total of Sen. Ferdinand Marcos reached near-commanding proportions today as counting in the Philippine presidential election passed the halfway mark.

Official totals, however, were lagging far behind the unofficial tallies, and there was no sign President Diosdado Macapagal, seeking a second term, was ready to concede.

With more than 4.5 million votes counted, Marcos' lead over Macapagal was 434,780. The Philippines News Service's unofficial tabulation gave Marcos 2,333,031, Macapagal 1,899,245 and third party candidate Raul Manglapus 364,017.

Many areas — particularly the province of Mindanao, where Macapagal was hopeful of large majorities — have not been heard from officially. There were fears of election irregularities.

Provincial and municipal treasurers, into whose custody the ballot boxes are delivered after the count, apparently were holding back delivery of the returns under pressure of politicians from both parties.

4-Horned, 3-Eyed Bull Is Reported Missing — LOS ANGELES (AP)—If you see a Brown Swiss bull with four horns and three eyes, don't call a psychiatrist or an optometrist. It might be Elmer.

leaders of the Communist party of the Soviet Union soon went back on their promise.

On Feb. 15, the day after Kosygin returned to Moscow the Soviet government officially put before North Viet Nam and China a proposal to convene a new international conference on Indochina without prior conditions.

This amounted to an endorsement of President Johnson's offer for "unconditional negotiations," Peking claimed. It charged that the Soviet leaders have been trying to arrange peace talks without mentioning withdrawal of U.S. forces from Viet Nam.

Once Around Roundtown

WHERE were all the American flags?

Today is Veteran's Day, one of few patriotic holidays during the year. Yet flags displayed in Circleville's general business area were small in number.

"We don't have a 50-star flag," and "There's no place to put a flag" were two excuses offered. Yet tomorrow many merchants will be flying the Red and Black colors signifying a home football game for the Circleville Tigers.

POLICE had a small pet today. A motorist spotted a tiny dog (breed undetermined) roaming along Route 23 South of here.

The tiny motorist stopped and brought the animal to the local police station. Officers immediately produced canned dog food for the little animal.

No bigger than a minute, city officers generously doled out a meal large enough for a St. Bernard.

NEW MARTINSVILLE, W.Va. (AP)—Five licks with a paddle don't constitute assault and battery, a Wetzel County jury has found.

The jury found Russell Fisher, a northern West Virginia school teacher, innocent of the charge, a misdemeanor.

Ike's Doctors' Fingers Crossed

FT. GORDON, Ga. (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower was considered in generally satisfactory condition today after a second attack of heart pains but his doctors raised at least a possible specter of "a full blown heart attack."

A medical bulletin from the team of doctors attending the 75-year-old five-star general said:

"It is not uncommon for patients with known coronary disease to experience repeated episodes of chest pains which may or may not progress to a full blown heart attack."

Eisenhower has a record of coronary disease — his major heart attack of 1955.

In their mention of a full blown heart attack the doctors defined the phrase as meaning "coronary thrombosis and myocardial infarction," which means heart muscle damage.

Capt. Wallace Hitchcock, public information officer here who read the doctors' statement to newsmen, was asked if the recurrence of pains means further hospitalization.

Hitchcock replied that doctors said the stay is based on the evaluation of the individual patient and the doctors will give a combined statement when available.

The doctors said that in the meantime they will continue the accepted therapy and prevention "which is to treat the patient with threatening attacks as if he had suffered a heart attack."

At a conference Wednesday doctors had said Eisenhower would be confined for at least two weeks. He had planned to fly to Walter Reed Hospital Friday to convalesce.

The physicians said in a bulletin:

"General Eisenhower spent a good night without further pain or discomfort. He is comfortable this morning and his general condition is satisfactory."

In effect the physicians were renewing what they said Wednesday night after recurring heart pains forced his return to an oxygen tent.

The pains Wednesday were "more prolonged and of longer duration" than the mild attack of angina pectoris, or heart pains, which occurred just after midnight Monday night, doctors said.

Announcement of the sudden reversal in the condition of the 75-year-old five-star general came about an hour after the doctors had said he was making a good recovery and might be playing golf again in two weeks.

Red Missiles Bag Only 7 U.S. Planes

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. air attacks on Soviet-built missile sites in North Viet Nam have been sharply stepped up, but the Reds' conventional anti-aircraft guns have taken the heaviest toll of attacking American planes.

Air Force and Navy fighter-bombers have destroyed or damaged seven surface-to-air installations in the past week and 10 since the beginning of the month. Only three SAM sites were hit between the end of July and November.

Seven planes, including rescue aircraft, were lost in attacks on missile installations, last weekend, but only one was downed by a missile. The others were hit by conventional ground fire.

"It's a risky business," said a U.S. military spokesman. "The concentration of flak aimed at our planes is as heavy as, if not heavier than, any in World War II."

Missiles are one of the Communists' most potentially dangerous weapons, but their success seems to have been relatively limited. Of the more than 140 planes lost since U.S. bombings of North Viet Nam began, only seven are known to have been shot down by missiles.

Defiance School Chieftain Dies

DEFIANCE, Ohio (AP) — C. M. Bricker, 54, who became Defiance city school superintendent in 1961, died in Defiance City Hospital Wednesday of a heart ailment. Bricker came here from St. Paris where he had been executive head of the Graham Local School District in Champaign County for six years.

Born in Hancock County, he was graduated by Findlay College and received his masters' degree from Ohio State University. He coached and taught at Rawson High School, Sylvan's Burnham High School and McComb High School, and was executive head of Weston schools in Wood County 12 years before going to Champaign County.

Toledo Area Loses Power for Half-Hour — TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Someone threw something of metal into an electrical transformer Wednesday evening and caused a half-hour power failure in Toledo's West End.

An estimated one-fourth of the city's 325,000 residents were without electricity until repairs were made.

Independence Is Declared

London Levies Harsh Sanctions

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — Prime Minister Ian Smith declared Rhodesia independent today, the first such declaration against Britain since the American colonies broke away in 1776.

Britain retaliated swiftly, effecting outlawing Rhodesia. Prime Minister Harold Wilson declared in the House of Commons that Smith and his ministers had been fired — an action which will be ignored in Rhodesia. Wilson asserted his government will have no dealings with the Rhodesian regime.

Wilson expelled Rhodesia from the sterling area, banned exports, including British purchases of Rhodesia's $112 million a year tobacco crop, ended all British aid, suspended trading preferences.

Britain embargoed the shipment of all arms to this central African country, and asked for an urgent meeting of the U.N. Security Council.

Britain's allies, including the United States, and Commonwealth members are expected to join in ignoring the declaration and in imposing economic sanctions.

While Smith still was speaking on the radio, British Governor Sir Humphrey Gibbs announced that Smith and all his ministers had been dismissed on orders of Queen Elizabeth for "an unconstitutional act of independence."

With his proclamation of independence, however, Smith had ceased to recognize the powers of the British governor and London has said it will not use force.

Smith and his Cabinet determined to go it alone after months of fruitless negotiations in which the British government demanded guarantees of eventual political power for the colony's 4 million Africans. Smith and his colleagues are determined to preserve rule by Rhodesia's 225,000 white settlers.

In proclaiming independence, Smith rejected last-minute appeals from both Wilson and Queen Elizabeth II. Wilson had telephoned Smith at 6 a.m. today in a final attempt to dissuade him.

Smith and his Cabinet sent a message to Queen Elizabeth II Wednesday pledging loyalty to the crown "whatever happens." Some British officials in London considered this a prelude to seizure of independence. Others considered it political brinkmanship designed to impress public opinion in Rhodesia and Britain.

The queen immediately replied with an appeal for the white leaders of the central African colony to avoid illegal acts and demonstrate their loyalty by "continuing to act in a constitutional manner."

Housewife, 24, Worried by Viet, Sets Self Afire

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—A 24-year-old mother who had said "all the world's problems are my problems," was found with her clothing aflame late Wednesday night in front of her South Bend home. Her husband said she had been concerned about Viet Nam.

Patrolman Edward Friend said two burned books of paper matches were found on the steps of Mrs. Celene Jankowski's house.

Henry Wozniak, a neighbor, heard her screaming and smothered her burning clothing with a blanket. She was reported in fair condition today with third-degree burns over 30 percent of her upper body.

Richard Jankowski, the husband, said his wife suggested a week ago that they both set themselves afire.

Veterans Day Brings Support Of GIs in Viet

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Mailmen's marches and lines of university students at blood donation centers featured a Veterans Day observance in Ohio at which the usual parades and services had heightened piety.

The American effort in South Viet Nam made this the most meaningful Veterans Day since U.S. servicemen were giving their lives in Korea.

Many organizations rallied for a show of support for the nation's troops in the present combat.

Oil Station Aide Found Shot in Head

LONDON, Ohio (AP)—A 41-year-old service station attendant in nearby West Jefferson, just west of Columbus, was found slain in the station early today.

Authorities said Claude Queensberry, 41, of near London, had been shot three times in the back of the head, and once in the body.

Robbery was believed the motive for the killing, discovered by a motorist driving by the station on U. S. 40.

The amount of money taken from the attendant was not determined immediately.

But the slaying had many similarities to the killing of Joe Seowden, a Columbus service station attendant, last Oct. 2. Seowden also was shot in the back of the head in an "execution" type killing, also by a .25 caliber gun, the same caliber of gun used, in Queensberry's slaying.

Columbus police detectives went to the scene in an effort to determine if the same robber might be responsible for both killings.

Law Has Teeth; They Bite, Too

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The law has teeth in it, a Los Angeles youth has learned. What's more, they bite.

Sheriff's Deputy William Saunders said he was escorting William Maddox, 19, to Superior Court, where he was to be tried Wednesday on five counts of kidnapping for the purpose of robbery.

En route, Saunders said Maddox tried to grab the handcuff key. Saunders yelled for help. Maddox put his hand over the officer's mouth to prevent him from talking.

In the process, Maddox's fingers inadvertently landed between Saunders' teeth.

The deputy clamped down. Maddox screamed. Reinforcements arrived and Maddox was subdued.

130 Reds Die In Viet Action

Air, Ground Units Hammer Enemy

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A Viet Cong force ambushed a South Vietnamese unit on a main highway west of Saigon today, but 130 of the Communists were killed by combined ground and air action, a U.S. spokesman reported.

The spokesman said American and Vietnamese planes hammered the attacking Viet Cong and killed 100 of them. He had no information on government casualties or other details of the action 5 miles west of Baria.

A large force of U.S. Marines and South Vietnamese troops pressed an offensive in sandy, rolling coastal terrain 350 miles northeast of Saigon, but results were meager.

Two Viet Cong were reported killed and 18 suspects were detained in the search-and-destroy mission 18 miles northwest of Chu Lai on the coast of the South China Sea. No Allied casualties were reported, a U.S. military spokesman said.

The Americans stormed ashore Wednesday with the Vietnamese in the first joint amphibious operation of the war against the Viet Cong. Col. Thell Fisher of Springfield, Va., was in command of the operation, the first time an American was put in operational control of a Vietnamese fighting unit.

No major ground action was reported elsewhere in the country.

A new U.S. tactical fighter squadron arrived in Viet Nam to bolster the air war against the Viet Cong. U.S. planes kept up the daily pressure on targets in North Viet Nam, and Vietnamese planes joined them in attacks in the South.

The new squadron of F100 Super Sabre jets had been based in the Philippines and at Da Nang.

U.S. Air Force jets dropped 340,000 propaganda leaflets 180 miles west of Hanoi on Dien Bien Phu, site of the decisive French defeat in the Indochinese War.

General Urges Draft of Dropouts — OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of Selective Service, has suggested that high school dropouts be placed in the armed services.

"They've got to be some place where they can't drop out," he said Wednesday. "We've got to help these young people become team players in our democracy, or we won't have one."

Hershey visited the state Selective Service headquarters and later addressed the city Chamber of Commerce.

He estimated the draft rate will stay at about 36,000 men a month nationally.

Athens Area Watershed Gets U.S. Aid

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Conservation officials announced today that the Margaret Creek Watershed in Athens County had been approved for federal assistance under the Watershed Protection and Flood Prevention Act.

The announcement was made by Raymond S. Brown, state conservationist for the U. S. Soil Conservation Service.

The 38,600-acre project is being sponsored by the Margaret Creek Conservancy District; the Athens Soil and Water Conservation District, Athens County commissioners, the village of Albany and the Ohio Department of Natural Resources.

Brown said special emphasis is given in the plan to application of needed soil and water conservation practices on lands of the entire watershed.

The needed conservation measures in the uplands of the watershed will assure that reservoirs and channels will not become clogged with silt as is the case when such measures are not applied, he added.

Estimated federal cost is expected to amount to more than $682,000. Other costs for needed land easements and rights-of-way will involve expenditure of more than $565,000.

Veterans Day Brings Support Of GIs in Viet

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Mailmen's marches and lines of university students at blood donation centers featured a Veterans Day observance in Ohio at which the usual parades and services had heightened piety.

The American effort in South Viet Nam made this the most meaningful Veterans Day since U.S. servicemen were giving their lives in Korea.

Many organizations rallied for a show of support for the nation's troops in the present combat.

Oil Station Aide Found Shot in Head

LONDON, Ohio (AP)—A 41-year-old service station attendant in nearby West Jefferson, just west of Columbus, was found slain in the station early today.

Authorities said Claude Queensberry, 41, of near London, had been shot three times in the back of the head, and once in the body.

Robbery was believed the motive for the killing, discovered by a motorist driving by the station on U. S. 40.

The amount of money taken from the attendant was not determined immediately.

But the slaying had many similarities to the killing of Joe Scowden, a Columbus service station attendant, last Oct. 2. Scowden also was shot in the back of the head in an "execution" type killing, also by a .25 caliber gun, the same caliber of gun used in Queensberry's slaying.

Columbus police detectives went to the scene in an effort to determine if the same robber might be responsible for both killings.

Law Has Teeth; They Bite, Too

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The law has teeth in it, a Los Angeles youth has learned. What's more, they bite.

Sheriff's Deputy William Saunders said he was escorting William Maddox, 19, to Superior Court, where he was to be tried Wednesday on five counts of kidnapping for the purpose of robbery.

En route, Saunders said Maddox tried to grab the handcuff key. Saunders yelled for help. Maddox put his hand over the officer's mouth to prevent him from talking.

In the process, Maddox's fingers inadvertently landed between Saunders' teeth.

The deputy clamped down. Maddox screamed. Reinforcements arrived and Maddox was subdued.

Air, Ground Units Hammer Enemy

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A Viet Cong force ambushed a South Vietnamese unit on a main highway west of Saigon today, but 130 of the Communists were killed by combined ground and air action, a U.S. spokesman reported.

The spokesman said American and Vietnamese planes hammered the attacking Viet Cong and killed 100 of them. He had no information on government casualties or other details of the action 5 miles west of Ba Ria.

A large force of U.S. Marines and South Vietnamese troops pressed an offensive in sandy, rolling coastal terrain 350 miles northeast of Saigon, but results were meager.

Two Viet Cong were reported killed and 18 suspects were detained in the search-and-destroy mission 18 miles northwest of Chu Lai on the coast of the South China Sea. No Allied casualties were reported, a U.S. military spokesman said.

The Americans stormed ashore Wednesday with the Vietnamese in the first joint amphibious operation of the war against the Viet Cong. Col. Theil Fisher of Springfield, Va., was in command of the operation, the first time an American was put in operational control of a Vietnamese fighting unit.

No major ground action was reported elsewhere in the country.

A new U.S. tactical fighter squadron arrived in Viet Nam to bolster the air war against the Viet Cong. U.S. planes kept up the daily pressure on targets in North Viet Nam, and Vietnamese planes joined them in attacks in the South.

The new squadron of F100 Super Sabre jets had been based in the Philippines and at Da Nang. U.S. Air Force jets dropped 340,000 propaganda leaflets 180 miles west of Hanoi on Dien Bien Phu, site of the decisive French defeat in the Indochinese War.

General Urges Draft of Dropouts

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of Selective Service, has suggested that high school dropouts be placed in the armed services.

"They've got to be some place where they can't drop out," he said Wednesday. "We've got to help these young people become team players in our democracy, or we won't have one."

Hershey visited the state Selective Service headquarters and later addressed the city Chamber of Commerce.

He estimated the draft rate will stay at about 36,000 men a month nationally.

4-Horned, 3-Eyed Bull Is Reported Missing

LOS ANGELES (AP)—If you see a Brown Swiss bull with four horns and three eyes, don't call a psychiatrist or an optometrist. It might be Elmer.

Elmer was reported stolen Wednesday from a carnival. His owner, Harvey Williams, 60, told officers the animal was on display earlier Wednesday but that his van and Elmer later disappeared.

Williams said he valued the bull at $25,000.

Housewife, 24, Worried by Viet, Sets Self Afire

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—A 24-year-old mother who had said "all the world's problems are my problems," was found with her clothing aflame late Wednesday night in front of her South Bend home. Her husband said she had been concerned about Viet Nam.

Patrolman Edward Friend said two burned books of paper matches were found on the steps of Mrs. Celeste Jankowski's house.

Henry Wozniak, a neighbor, heard her screaming and smothered her burning clothing with a blanket. She was reported in fair condition today with third-degree burns over 30 percent of her upper body.

Richard Jankowski, the husband, said his wife suggested a week ago that they both set themselves afire.

Independence

met was in session considering the crisis.

As soon as Smith made his declaration, the British governor of Rhodesia, Sir Humphrey Gibbs, announced that on instructions from the queen he had suspended Smith and all his ministers from office.

It was not immediately clear how the governor would implement the queen's instructions, however. Wilson previously had ruled out the use of British troops to nullify a declaration of independence.

Wilson also arranged to make a nationwide television and radio address to the British people tonight.

Smith, in his broadcast in Salisbury, said Rhodesians had demonstrated their loyalty to the crown and to others in the United Kingdom and elsewhere throughout two world wars. Rhodesians, he said, had been prepared to shed their blood and give of their substance to defend their beliefs.

The Rhodesian people, he continued, had given their support in what they believed to be the mutual interests of a freedom-loving people.

He contended that the people of Rhodesia fully supported the request of their government for sovereign independence.

In Washington, a State Department spokesman said that to his knowledge the United States received no advance word on the Rhodesian action.

Rhodesia is the first British colony to declare its independence unilaterally since the American Declaration of Independence in 1776.

Smith said in his broadcast that the British government had consistently refused to accede to Rhodesia's request for sovereign independence.

Smith added that the British government had persisted and maintained what he termed its unwarrantable control over Rhodesia—to the detriment of the future peace, prosperity and good government of Rhodesia.

It had become obvious, he continued, that the end of the road had been reached and that it was the policy of the British government "to play us along" with no real intention of arriving at a solution the Rhodesian government could possibly accept.

"We have not arrived at this decision without the deepest heart searching," he declared.

The playing of "God Save the Queen" followed Smith's reading of the proclamation of independence.

Britain's Labor government had refused to grant independence to the self-governing colony until its ruling white minority agrees to guarantees assuring ultimate rule by the 4 million Africans. Rhodesia's white population numbers 225,000.

Visiting Troops in China Are 'Blessing in Disguise'

By F. K. Wu
Central Press Association
Correspondent

HONG KONG — While the Peking regime howled against the increasing number of American Marines and sailors coming here from South Viet Nam, there presence is at least indirectly a blessing in disguise to China's "People's Government."

More American servicemen and tourists coming to this British colony means prosperity to the people here, who in turn buy more products from Communist China and remit more money to their dependents there. American and other globe trotters are unanimous in finding Hong Kong a "must" in their itinerary.

It is estimated that Peking's income from Hong Kong is one million American dollars a day, representing about 15 per cent of the total revenue of the "People's Republic of China." This sum includes the sale of Chinese consumers' goods here and remittances from Hong Kong to needy relatives and friends in Red China.

Over the years Hong Kong has been a center for "rest and recreation" of American sailors and Marines of the U. S. Seventh Fleet, and more marines came here during July and August from Viet Nam.

The presence of additional Leathernecks on holiday spree here gave Peking a pretext to protest to Britain that Hong Kong was used as an American base for military operation in Viet Nam, but London rejected such representations on the ground that the American servicemen were here only for rest and recreation.

The State Department, which ordered a suspension of recreation flights from Viet Nam to Hong Kong on Sept. 5 following the Peking protest to London, has seen fit to allow a resumption of these visits.

Like the ordinary tourists coming to Hong Kong, American servicemen are fascinated by the picturesque sights here, which are said to be superior to those of Japan, and the many facilities provided by hotels, restaurants, shops, bars, dance halls and night clubs.

While the current number of flights from the new American air base at Da Nang, South Viet Nam, to Hong Kong is not disclosed, the number in August and up to suspension on Sept. 5 climbed to 62 flights a month.

Observers here believe that the Peking protest against the presence of American servicemen was promoted by a Communist desire to harass the United States at every turn and thereby to step up the cold war in this city at the door step of Red China.

Nevertheless, the coming and going of American sailors and Marines is giving Peking agents a good chance to size up not only the fighting men from the United States, but their aircraft and warships.

Sailors and some Marines are also brought here by American attack transports and the huge aircraft carriers. These ships are easily within view from all parts of the waterfront and all the hilly regions overlooking the landlocked harbor and are passed by ferries criss-crossing the harbor.

Communist observers in Hong Kong have taken good photographs of American warships and formed a good idea of their tonnage and armaments. This also applies to the American aircraft carrying armed force personnel to and from this city.

Anyway, it is clear to the Peking regime that the American servicemen are here for a good time and have nothing to do with anything military. Peking also realizes that the local bar girls, storekeepers, restaurant owners and other caterers are better off with the visits of the American Marines and sailors.

Most of these Chinese have relatives and dependents in Canton, Swatow, Shanghai, and elsewhere in China, to whom remittances are often sent.

As this British colony has been a source of revenue to Red China, it is not likely that the Peking regime will continue to object to the presence of American visitors from Viet Nam.

American servicemen are also visiting Bangkok, Manila, Singapore and Japan on holiday but like other tourists, they appear to find Hong Kong more fascinating and exotic. It is expected that later on American soldiers will follow the footsteps of the Gobs and Leathernecks to this fun-making Mecca.

NW Water Pipeline Action Seen

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A $2 million state project aimed at devising a better water system for northwest Ohio's "Vegetable Basket" is scheduled for its first action next Thursday.

The Ohio Water Commission will ask for release of $550,000 to hire the engineering firm of Burgess & Niple Ltd., Columbus, to map ways to build better pipelines, reservoirs and other storage facilities. It is hoped that under the plan more facilities in the rich soil of the area can be opened for truck farming.

The $290 million bond issued approved by Ohio voters last May had among its projects $10 million for a pipeline to carry Lake Erie water into northwest counties. Planners cut the project to a long range plan to improve local water facilities with provision for hooking up to Lake Erie at some later date.

Young Neo-Nazi Gang Uncovered

EASTLAKE, Ohio (AP)—Police have arrested two members of a self-styled neo-nazi gang and charged them with stealing an automatic rifle.

Police said today the youths, 15 and 16-years-old, were arrested at North High School and charged with the theft from an Eastlake residence on Oct. 26. They are being held at the Lake County Juvenile Detention home in Painesville.

Two months ago, they, along with three other youths, were charged with the bombing and burning of an Eastlake elementary school and the looting of eight stores in the area, police said.

money is made available, they seemed agreed last night that every avenue should be explored to prevent it.

Their approach now will be to ask the city and county anew for supplemental funds, as provided in a contract which calls for these two governing bodies to provide money for hospital operating deficits.

Previous requests for city-county funds resulted in answers denoting none was available. However, the County Commissioners and members of City Council have voiced the contention that this community must not be without Emergency Room or other hospital services.

The County Commission has announced it will meet the problem by exerting every effort to find a solution. Council members have sounded a similar stand.

The chore of finding a new superintendent will fall on the shoulders of a committee composed of Berger Governors Henry Schroeder, Dr. F. W. Anderson and Russell C. Palm. Schroeder will serve as chairman. It was indicated Miss Leist will be requested to remain until the vacancy is filled. Looking a step further into the future, the governors reviewed the vital need for emergency medical facilities on the part of every citizen and local industries, large and small. The same outlook was pictured for maternity service.

Another discussion point focused on future improvement of communications and relations between the hospital administrative staff, the medical staff and the governing board.

Fair Housing Law Trouble Is Feared

SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP)—Dr. Bruce T. Green, head of the Cincinnati branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, says he is afraid violence might result in moves to repeal Ohio's fair housing law.

Addressing an NAACP Freedom Fund Dinner Wednesday night in Sandusky, Green called the prospect of Negro violence frightening.

Green said that even before the new housing legislation went into effect Nov. 1 "Ohio's real estate interests have planned and are planning a referendum to revoke the legislation."

Independence

inlet was in session considering the crisis.

As soon as Smith made his declaration, the British governor of Rhodesia, Sir Humphrey Gibbs, announced that on instructions from the queen he had suspended Smith and all his ministers from office.

It was not immediately clear how the governor would implement the queen's instructions, however. Wilson previously had ruled out the use of British troops to nullify a declaration of independence.

Wilson also arranged to make a nationwide television and radio address to the British people tonight.

Smith, in his broadcast in Salisbury, said Rhodesians had demonstrated their loyalty to the crown and to others in the United Kingdom and elsewhere throughout two world wars. Rhodesians, he said, had been prepared to shed their blood and give of their substance to defend their beliefs.

The Rhodesian people, he continued, had given their support in what they believed to be the mutual interests of a freedom-loving people.

He contended that the people of Rhodesia fully supported the request of their government for sovereign independence.

In Washington, a State Department spokesman said that to his knowledge the United States received no advance word on the Rhodesian action.

Rhodesia is the first British colony to declare its independence unilaterally since the American Declaration of Independence in 1776.

Smith said in his broadcast that the British government had consistently refused to accede to Rhodesia's request for sovereign independence.

Smith added that the British government had persisted and maintained what he termed its unwarrantable control over Rhodesia—to the detriment of the future peace, prosperity and good government of Rhodesia.

It had become obvious, he continued, that the end of the road had been reached and that it was the policy of the British government "to play us along" with no real intention of arriving at a solution the Rhodesian government could possibly accept.

"We have not arrived at this decision without the deepest heart searching," he declared. The playing of "God Save the Queen" followed Smith's reading of the proclamation of independence.

Britain's Labor government had refused to grant independence to the self-governing colony until its ruling white minority agrees to guarantees assuring ultimate rule by the 4 million Africans. Rhodesia's white population numbers 225,000.

Visiting Troops in China Are 'Blessing in Disguise'

By F. K. Wu
Central Press Association
Correspondent

HONG KONG — While the Peking regime howled against the increasing number of American Marines and sailors coming here from South Viet Nam, there presence is at least indirectly a blessing in disguise to China's "People's Government."

More American servicemen and tourists coming to this British colony means prosperity to the people here, who in turn buy more products from Communist China and remit more money to their dependents there. American and other globe trotters are unanimous in finding Hong Kong a "must" in their itinerary.

It is estimated that Peking's income from Hong Kong is one million American dollars a day, representing about 15 per cent of the total revenue of the "People's Republic of China." This sum includes the sale of Chinese consumers' goods here and remittances from Hong Kong to needy relatives and friends in Red China.

Over the years Hong Kong has been a center for "rest and recreation" of American sailors and Marines of the U. S. Seventh Fleet, and more marines came here during July and August from Viet Nam.

The presence of additional Leathernecks on holiday spree here gave Peking a pretext to protest to Britain that Hong Kong was used as an American base for military operation in Viet Nam, but London rejected such representations on the ground that the American servicemen were here only for rest and recreation.

The State Department, which ordered a suspension of recreation flights from Viet Nam to Hong Kong on Sept. 5 following the Peking protest to London, has seen fit to allow a resumption of these visits.

Stock Mart Slack, Lower

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market was irregularly lower early this afternoon in slack Veterans Day trading.

Aluminum shares showed some sharp losses following the rescinding of the aluminum price boost as a result of a government plan to release stock-piled aluminum on the market. Brokers also cited the Rhodesian declaration of independence as a caution-breking piece of news.

Losses of a point or more were also taken during the morning by some of the recent big gainers among color television makers, aerospace stocks and airlines, but a number of these declines were tripped as the session wore on.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .7 at 352.4 with industrials off .8, rails off .3 and utilities off .6.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 1.39 at 949.83.

4 Live Grenades Found In Box for 'Goodwill'

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Goodwill Industries, which repairs castoff clothes, toys and furniture and sells them for charity, found four live World War II Japanese hand grenades in a box from one of its pickup trucks Wednesday. A bomb removal squad from nearby Mather Air Force Base was called to take them away.

Giant tortoises on the arid Galapagos Islands store water from the scant rainfall in neck sacs. Shipwrecked mariners have been saved from death by tapping the unusual water supply.

Nathan Road in Kowloon, the mainland suburb of Hong Kong Island, is studded with modern hotels such as these in foreground.

coming to Hong Kong, American servicemen are fascinated by the picturesque sights here, which are said to be superior to those of Japan, and the many facilities provided by hotels, restaurants, shops, bars, dance halls and night clubs.

While the current number of flights from the new American air base at Da Nang, South Viet Nam, to Hong Kong is not disclosed, the number in August and up to suspension on Sept. 5 climbed to 62 flights a month.

Observers here believe that the Peking protest against the presence of American servicemen was promoted by a Communist desire to harass the United States at every turn and thereby to step up the cold war in this city at the door step of Red China.

Nevertheless, the coming and going of American sailors and Marines is giving Peking agents a good chance to size up not only the fighting men from the United States, but their aircraft and warships.

Sailors and some Marines are also brought here by American attack transports and the huge aircraft carriers. These ships are easily within view from all parts of the waterfront and all the hilly regions overlooking the landlocked harbor and are passed by ferries criss-crossing the harbor.

Communist observers in Hong Kong have taken good photographs of American warships and formed a good idea of their tonnage and armaments. This also applies to the American aircraft carrying armed force personnel to and from this city.

Anyway, it is clear to the Peking regime that the American servicemen are here for a good time and have nothing to do with anything military. Peking also realizes that the local bar girls, storekeepers, restaurant owners and other caterers are better off with the visits of the American Marines and sailors. Most of these Chinese have relatives and dependents in Canton, Swatow, Shanghai, and elsewhere in China, to whom remittances are often sent.

As this British colony has been a source of revenue to Red China, it is not likely that the Peking regime will continue to object to the presence of American visitors from Viet Nam.

American servicemen are also visiting Bangkok, Manila, Singapore and Japan on holiday but like other tourists, they appear to find Hong Kong more fascinating and exotic. It is expected that later on American soldiers will follow the footsteps of the Gobs and Leathernecks to this fun-making Mecca.

NW Water Pipeline Action Seen

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A $2 million state project aimed at devising a better water system for northwest Ohio's "Vegetable Basket" is scheduled for its first action next Thursday.

The Ohio Water Commission will ask for release of $550,000 to hire the engineering firm of Burgess & Niple Ltd., Columbus, to map ways to build better pipelines, reservoirs and other storage facilities. It is hoped that under the plan more facilities in the rich soil of the area can be opened for truck farming.

The $290 million bond issued approved by Ohio voters last May had among its projects $10 million for a pipeline to carry Lake Erie water into northwest counties. Planners cut the project to a long range plan to improve local water facilities with provision for hooking up to Lake Erie at some later date.

Young Neo-Nazi Gang Uncovered

EASTLAKE, Ohio (AP)—Police have arrested two members of a self-styled neo-Nazi gang and charged them with stealing an automatic rifle.

Police said today the youths, 15 and 16-years-old, were arrested at North High School and charged with the theft from an Eastlake residence on Oct. 26. They are being held at the Lake County Juvenile Detention home in Painesville.

Two months ago, they, along with three other youths, were charged with the bombing and burning of an Eastlake elementary school and the looting of eight stores in the area, police said.

money is made available, they seemed agreed last night that every avenue should be explored to prevent it.

Their approach now will be to ask the city and county anew for supplemental funds, as provided in a contract which calls for these two governing bodies to provide money for hospital operating deficits.

Previous requests for city-county funds resulted in answers denoting none was available. However, the County Commissioners and members of City Council have voiced the contention that this community must not be without Emergency Room or other hospital services.

The County Commission has announced it will meet the problem by exerting every effort to find a solution. Council members have sounded a similar stand.

The chore of finding a new superintendent will fall on the shoulders of a committee composed of Berger Governors Henry Schroeder, Dr. F. W. Anderson and Russell C. Palm. Schroeder will serve as chairman. It was indicated Miss Leist will be requested to remain until the vacancy is filled.

Looking a step further into the future, the governors reviewed the vital need for emergency medical facilities on the part of every citizen and local industries, large and small. The same outlook was pictured for maternity service.

Another discussion point focused on future improvement of communications and relations between the hospital administrative staff, the medical staff and the governing board.

Fair Housing Law

Trouble Is Feared

SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP)—Dr. Bruce T. Green, head of the Cincinnati branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, says he is afraid violence might result in moves to repeal Ohio's fair housing law.

Addressing an NAACP Freedom Fund Dinner Wednesday night in Sandusky, Green called the prospect of Negro violence frightening.

Green said that even before the new housing legislation went into effect Nov. 1 "Ohio's real estate interests have planned and are planning a referendum to revoke the legislation."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Under the law of averages President Johnson's luck in foreign affairs won't last.

Today he arranged a full-scale review of foreign policy with top-level Cabinet officers at his Texas ranch, the first of its kind since his gall bladder operation Oct. 8. He had held such meetings regularly before that.

Nothing indicated this one would be unusual, which is a reminder that except for the Dominican Republic revolt and the continuing war in Viet Nam Johnson has been fairly free of overseas dilemmas, at least critical ones.

There has been a basic difference between the way Johnson and President John F. Kennedy tackled foreign policy. From the very first Kennedy plunged head-first into it, and personally.

In less than three years he made an excellent impression abroad. But Johnson has played foreign policy in a much lower key. One example: In his first year Kennedy made a trip abroad; Johnson has stayed home.

But in the two biggest and most critical problems that confronted them in their first five months Johnson took far more forceful and positive action than Kennedy.

The latter supported the invasion of Fidel Castro's Cuba by Cuban exiles but he failed to back them with U.S. forces and many of them perished on the beaches. It was a disaster. Kennedy took the blame. But he suffered for it.

When the Dominican revolt began Johnson sent 22,000 troops into the republic — to prevent a Communist takeover, he said — and, although this manpower may have been more than was needed, the revolt subsided.

Kennedy, following former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's policy of helping South Viet Nam resist the Viet Cong attempt to conquer it, began a gradual American military build-up. But the Viet Cong continued to progress.

U.S. Secret Service To Be Altered

WASHINGTON (AP)—A massive reorganization of the Secret Service is planned and chief James J. Rowley's title will be changed to director, a Treasury official said Wednesday.

Rufus Youngblood, who has been head of the White House detail, is being promoted to one of four new posts of assistant director, and Lam Johns, now his top assistant, replaces him on the White House detail.

In addition, Rowley will have two staff assistants who will carry the title of assistant to the director.

Under the change, Rowley will have a title equal in rank to that of FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover.

The Treasury official said Rowley preferred the title of director and that this designation is normally used for heads of intelligence services.

Within the next few months the number of Secret Service personnel is scheduled to grow to about 950, almost twice the number two years ago.

Youngblood will be in charge of all details of the protection provided for President Johnson, the vice president, former presidents and Mrs. John F. Kennedy.

No Communication

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—Wichita Mayor William Tarrant chose communications as his topic for a talk to a state meeting of city officials.

When he began to speak the loud speaker wouldn't work.

his own first full term, South Viet Nam was dwindling into chaos. He poured in American troops, began bombing North Viet Nam and stopped the Viet Cong tide.

But elsewhere for Johnson the world has been relatively quiet. Another lucky point for him is that he hasn't had to cope with anyone so unpredictable or pushy as Kennedy encountered: Russian Premier Khrushchev.

He was an endless problem to Kennedy. Johnson has had none of that, or almost none of it. By the time he took office Khrushchev had quieted down and was finally thrown out. His successors play low key, like Johnson.

As Russia muted its hostility Red China became communism's loud mouth and Johnson's most constant problem. But, luckily for him, China began to suffer rebuffs and setbacks without any apparent direct American action.

Since Johnson's predecessors all the way back to President Franklin D. Roosevelt got engulfed in one crisis after another, this year for Johnson is apt to look like no more than a coffee break before he moves out of the White House.

At the moment — besides the Viet Cong, the North Vietnamese and the Red Chinese — Johnson's greatest irritant seems to be French President Charles de Gaulle who has just asked his people to give him another seven-year term.

When Kennedy journeyed to Europe in his first year, he met De Gaulle, among others. It would not be surprising if Johnson next year, particularly if Congress finishes its work early, made one or more trips abroad.

Sooner or later he will have to get deeper into foreign affairs, if only to give the Western world a far more vital leadership than it has now. Without such leadership the Western alliance, under De Gaulle's heckling, may crumble.

Asked about the situation, Pentagon officials in Washington remarked that all a serviceman has to do in such a case is check the medical facility connected to his unit and glasses would be routinely provided.

To a Trouper

The instructions to the leading lady were disconcerting, not to say baffling: You'll play an indefinite number of performances, in an unannounced theater, at an unspecified time, to an audience of undetermined composition.

If you think it could only happen in the Army, you're right. The place was Viet Nam, the show "Hello, Dolly," and the star Mary Martin. The reason for the vague programming was, of course, security.

When the tour was over, "Hello Dolly" had played to 35,000 servicemen. Miss Martin had left them chanting the title song and with hearts full of gratitude for the little lady — five feet one, 115 pounds and 51 on her next birthday.

Miss Martin flew from Viet Nam to South Korea, there to remind 10,000 servicemen they had not been forgotten. She's in London now for a new round of performances. On her dressing table is a statuette presented by Special Services of the U. S. 8th Army. They call it their "Papa-San Award," the first of its kind to a terrific trouper.

It couldn't have a more deserving recipient.

Scuttled Subsidy

The first session of the present Congress has not been called penny-pinching. But it did set one precedent in withdrawing subsidies from a going program which could provide a lead for similar reversals of government programs in the future.

For a dozen years, Congress has been underwriting the costs of helicopter airlines, apparently on the premise that such service is necessary but as yet not economically feasible. The total cost to date has been in the vicinity of $50 million.

Last spring Congress decided rather suddenly the time had come to withdraw helicopter subsidies. Several companies specializing in this type of air service complained bitterly they simply could not operate without government aid.

Congress went ahead and cut off the funds the helicopter lines had become accustomed to, and the companies managed to survive.

It developed that two of the larger firms, New York Airways and Los Angeles Airways, both of which use their facilities primarily to shuttle passengers from downtown points to various airports for long-range airline traffic, had become essential components of air service in those metropolises.

Consequently, the major airlines got together with the helicopter companies and agreed to share expenses. It was as simple as that. Helicopter service will continue as before, and the lately affluent commercial airlines — which are the direct beneficiaries of the 'coper service — will pay part of the bill.

Almost all government subsidies, whether to TVA, farmers, the maritime industry or what, were billed as temporary when begun. But it is so startling to see one actually withdrawn when private enterprise has the capacity to do the job, it was not surprising the first reaction from the recipients was a cry of doom.

Those who tend to pooh-pooh the ability of the private sector to adapt to changing economic conditions have been found wrong in the case of helicopter service. There are any number of other areas in which the same test could, and should, be applied.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

WHEN PAT O'FLAHERTY, having had several beakers of beer too many, swallowed a live rabbit by mistake, Mrs. O'Flaherty lost no time in filling the bath tub with very hot water, throwing Mr. O. therein, and declaring, "I'm going to scrub your miserable hide until you cough up that poor little rabbit."

The song that she sang while performing this operation was, of course, "I'm Gonna Wash That Hare Right Out of My Man."

Douglas Watt on the subject of Hollywood casting: (1) The day Red Buttons was signed to portray an agent in "Harlow," he phoned his own agent to implore, "Hurry over here and teach me to be sneaky and mean." (2) An actor on the verge of stardom turned down a lucrative offer to assume the role of a doctor in one of those unending TV hospital series. "I could never play a doctor convincingly," he explained. "My handwriting is too good."

QUOTEABLE:

Noel Coward: "Wit is like caviar: it should be savored in small, elegant portions and not spread about like marmalade."

Lord Caradon: "Pessimism in a diplomat is like cowardice in a general."

George Bernard Shaw: "The secret of being miserable is to have leisure to bother about whether you are happy or not."

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

When I was seven months pregnant, I developed an awful craving for raw macaroni. My baby is six months old and I still can't stop eating it. I am discouraged because I cannot stop. Could there be something lacking in my system that demands starch? Do you advise me to see my family physician? If it were not so serious, it would almost be comical.

Mrs. P. McEl, Ottawa, Ontario
Dear Mrs. McEl: It is not unusual for strange eating habits and peculiar food cravings to appear at some time during pregnancy. Yours appeared somewhat late and is most capricious and has lasted longer than most. Your continued craving for raw macaroni most certainly deserves an explanation from your physician.

There may be some physical or emotional need that requires his assistance and understanding.

Long-standing disturbances in appetite, cravings and even aversions for food must be considered to have an emotional basis, if the physical examination proves normal.

There is nothing comical about your story. Your problem needs the guidance that only your physician can offer.

Is pemphigus a curable disease? What causes it? Is it contagious?

Pemphigus is a skin disorder that demands the most rigid and active treatment for its control and cure.

The cause of the disease is yet unknown. A virus, allergy, hormone imbalance, and several toxic drug reactions have been suspected but have not really been proven as the cause. Pemphigus is not considered to be contagious.

Before the era of antibiotics and cortisone, the outlook for pemphigus was indeed bleak. Now the open blisters of pemphigus are kept free of infection with penicillin. Cortisone is of tremendous value in the control of this very serious and strange skin disorder.

When I hear a loud noise like a gunshot or thunder I develop terrible pain in my ears and head. I become terribly upset and jittery for the rest of the day. Is there something wrong with my hearing mechanism?

Big Brother Getting Ready

By John Chamberlain

Big Brother may not be watching you on a twenty-four-hour basis just yet. But he is sure flexing his muscles and getting ready for the day.

It shows in little things and in big. One little thing happened in Chester, Pennsylvania, a week ago when two school children, Charles Steward Jr., 13, and his sister Peggy, 8, were suspended from their classes for three days because they brought their own lunches from home instead of paying for meals partially subsidized by the federal government. It seems that Big Brother in Washington won't support school lunch programs that are not accepted by 100 per cent of the pupils. In other words, you'll eat federal hamburgers and cupcakes and like it — in schools that hanker for federal help. Vegetarians and young diabetics are presumably included.

At the other end of the scale there is the Federal Communications Commission's attempt to force a new ruling that would turn over the supply and control of fifty per cent of the networks' prime evening entertainment to the advertisers. This would give two hours to Madison Avenue out of the four most valuable TV hours in the day.

I am not sufficiently well-versed in TV realities to know whether the advertisers would provide better programs than the networks themselves. But what gags me is the pretentiousness of the FCC, a body that was originally created to allocate wave-lengths. The FCC by one means and another, has kept pay-as-you-see television from ever having a really fair trial. Yet there is nothing in the law as I read it that gives the FCC power to determine who is to finance TV programs. This does not come under the heading of "regulation" as Alexander Hamilton, Thomas Jefferson, and James Madison would have understood the term.

The logic behind the effort to give fifty per cent of prime evening time to shows created by the advertising agencies and not by independent contractors is that it would guarantee more "diversity." Well, it might and it might not. To make such an assertion is equivalent to saying that the contents of magazines and newspapers would be more "varied" if the advertisers were permitted to take editorial control of half of the non-advertising white space that is available in the public prints.

The main business of an advertiser is, after all, to sell goods. If the Madison Avenue agencies chosen by the nation's merchandisers were to control the creation of half the big TV shows, it stands to reason that all sorts of subliminal itches would be infiltrated into the stuff that gets on to your screen and mine. The story of the gas company that caused the word "gas" to be expunged from a documentary about the death chambers used by the Nazis and Dachau may be apocryphal, but it illustrates a possible danger if prime TV time were to be dominated by the "subliminal" pitch artists.

Then there is the matter of the "little man." As it is now, three or four separate advertisers help pay for many hour-long TV shows. No one of them could possibly foot the bill for a big show of its own devising. Are we to assume, then, that many an entertainment would have to be created by a consortium consisting of a beer advertiser, a cigarette company, a savings bank, and a manufacturer of lipsticks? The burden of providing shows for a consortium would inevitably fall on an advertising agency, which would presumably pay the development costs and then market it. But what if the agency were to come up with a succession of turkeys? You figure it out. Benton and Bowles would have to be renamed "Bent and Bowled Over."

Hearings on the FCC proposal are scheduled for January. Lyndon Baines Johnson, that old radio-TV tycoon from Texas, can't very well open his mouth at hearings on the subject of the FCC idea, for that would put him in an undignified position. It might possibly raise "conflict of interest" questions in spite of the fact that he no longer has anything to say about the operation of the family stations. But one wonders how the White House regards the FCC assumption that TV stations, unlike newspapers and magazines, aren't covered by the freedom of the press provision of the First Amendment to the Constitution.

It shows in little things and in big. One little thing happened in Chester, Pennsylvania, a week ago when two school children, Charles Steward Jr., 13, and his sister Peggy, 8, were suspended from their classes for three days because they brought their own lunches from home instead of paying for meals partially subsidized by the federal government. It seems that Big Brother in Washington won't support school lunch programs that are not accepted by 100 per cent of the pupils. In other words, you'll eat federal hamburgers and cupcakes and like it — in schools that hanker for federal help. Vegetarians and young diabetics are presumably included.

At the other end of the scale there is the Federal Communications Commission's attempt to force a new ruling that would turn over the supply and control of fifty per cent of the networks' prime evening entertainment to the advertisers. This would give two hours to Madison Avenue out of the four most valuable TV hours in the day.

I am not sufficiently well-versed in TV realities to know whether the advertisers would provide better programs than the networks themselves. But what gags me is the pretentiousness of the FCC, a body that was originally created to allocate wave-lengths. The FCC by one means and another, has kept pay-as-you-see television from ever having a really fair trial. Yet there is nothing in the law as I read it that gives the FCC power to determine who is to finance TV programs. This does not come under the heading of "regulation" as Alexander Hamilton, Thomas Jefferson, and James Madison would have understood the term.

The logic behind the effort to give fifty per cent of prime evening time to shows created by the advertising agencies and not by independent contractors is that it would guarantee more "diversity." Well, it might and it might not. To make such an assertion is equivalent to saying that the contents of magazines and newspapers would be more "varied" if the advertisers were permitted to take editorial control of half of the non-advertising white space that is available in the public prints.

The main business of an advertiser is, after all, to sell goods. If the Madison Avenue agencies chosen by the nation's merchandisers were to control the creation of half the big TV shows, it stands to reason that all sorts of subliminal

Heardings on the FCC proposals are scheduled for January. Lyndon Baines Johnson that old radio-TV tycoon from Texas, can't very well open his mouth at hearings on the subject of the FCC idea, for that would put him in an undignified position. It might possibly raise "conflict of interest" questions in spite of the fact that he no longer has anything to say about the operation of the family stations. But one wonders how the White House regards the FCC assumption that TV stations, unlike newspapers and magazines, aren't covered by the freedom of the press provision of the First Amendment to the Constitution.

Letter To The Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE — We welcome letters to the editor. In order to be considered for publication, they must bear the correct name and address of the writer. Opinions expressed in this column are those of the writers and not necessarily those of The Herald.

To the Editor:

Just how serious is the financial condition of Berger Hospital?

If we are to judge from recent appeals to the public for additional taxes to meet current expenses there, then it is serious.

If we are to judge by recent announcements stating the hospital's intention of curtailing certain of its services, then it is very serious.

If we are to judge the anticipated spending by the County Commissioners of about $35,000 of the taxpayer money for real estate, then it is not serious.

Without a doubt, $35,000 can go a long way in alleviating financial difficulties at Berger. And without a doubt, it should be used for that purpose.

And if it is not, and Berger Hospital's needs are not given priority over the purchase of real estate, then it follows — Berger has no financial problems — or at least, none of any consequence. Therefore, this will remain the conclusion until explained otherwise.

PRESIDENT OF CIRCLEVILLE CITY COUNCIL

Marines Say They Need No Draftees

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Marine Corps has canceled its December draft call as it was announced that volunteer enlistments in the armed forces have risen almost 60 per cent.

The corps said it would not need 5,024 draftees it had asked for December because its enlistments had shot upward.

In the three-month period after President Johnson announced the Viet Nam buildup and more than doubled draft calls, Marine recruiting rose 113 per cent.

The Navy, which previously canceled its draft call for 4,000 men in November, registered a 69 per cent increase in volunteers in August, September and October.

The Air Force, which has been able to do without the draft all along, reported a 66 per cent increase in volunteers. The Army volunteers increased only 28 per cent in the three-month period.

The Marines are taking 4,050 men from Selective Service this month, the first time they have used the draft since late in the Korean War 13 years ago.

Today's action canceling the December Marine draft quota will reduce next month's call to 40,200 — all for service in the Army.

The Pentagon said that its requests for draftees in this last half of 1965 totaled 173,150.

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Housewives may have to cope with mounting grocery bills this winter.

It is the old law of supply and demand. Bad weather, the war in Viet Nam and labor shortages have cut the food supplies available for civilians.

This has been a bad growing year, with tropical storms in the South, rain in the Midwest and an abnormal freeze in the Pacific Northwest.

The military has embarked on a virtual crash program to purchase food for forces overseas, primarily in Viet Nam.

Supplies of most canned foods already are tighter than last year, and canners say the government is paying above market prices that come close to a requisition of supplies.

David V. Whitley of Chicago, newly elected president of the National Association of Frozen Food Packers, said corn, lima beans, green beans and mixed vegetables will be in short supply because of bad crops this year.

Strawberries also are in short supply.

But there is a big crop of peas, and citrus fruits are plentiful. Meat, poultry and fish have been running 5.3 per cent higher than last year, which is no news to shoppers. Cereals and baked goods have been up 1 per cent.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture says there may be a small decline in meat prices this winter.

Potatoes, a costly addition to meat-and-potatoes menus earlier this year, should be more economical in the month to come.

Fall Houseware Show Hit with Gadgeteers

By ELEANOR ROSS

A hall thronged with store buyers examining and ordering from a display of nearly 250,000 houseware products — that was the happy picture at the fall '65 National Housewares Show recently held in Chicago.

Representing the latest design improvements and ingenuity of America's houseware manufacturers to reflect innovations in fashion, flair, styling and utility, many of the new items are geared to satisfy growing consumer demands for greater comfort, convenience and leisure living.

We were interested in an automatic, pickproof combination door lock that unlocks by pushbutton combination control and locks again when the reset button is pushed.

Kitchen housewares include a double-duty cutting board with a deep well and tree for use with an electric carving knife on one side, the other side plan for slicing and dicing fruits and vegetables.

Another item is a heated carving board in cast aluminum, with a solid maple block that can be locked in position anywhere along the board to provide a safe wood surface to cut on.

Other kitchen wares shown included a battery-operated automatic towel rack that unrolls paper towels at the press of a button and stops when it is released.

Then there is a four-way combination oven-broiler that bakes and toasts on one side, broils and roasts on the other.

A vinyl freezer mitt protects the homemaker's hands while she is handling food in the deep freeze. The mitt has a magnet to hold it on the side of the freezer.

Of course there is an increasing variety of Teflon-coated cooking utensils.

And in addition, there is even a coated electric iron as well as aluminum ice trays treated inside and out, so they will release easily from the freezer, and the cubes from the trays, themselves.

Cordless and battery-operated carving knives are offered and there are more electric appliances of all types that operate this way.

On view, too, was a color-coordinated, wall-hanging telephone caddy with a hinged front panel to use as a phone desk. It is available to frame a standard wall phone unit, or it can be mounted separately from the telephone.

Another manufacturer has a portable electric clothes dryer that can be used in the bathroom for all small washables. It has an extra bonnet attachment to "double" as a hair dryer.

For patio or picnic use, there is an aluminum folding table and chair set that weighs but 27 pounds. All four chairs fold up and store inside the full-size bridge table, which itself folds in half and has a carrying handle.

Also a barbecue grill with a built-in fire-starter provides a ready-to-cook charcoal fire in 15 minutes, with the use of a single sheet of newspaper.

And finally, the plethora of new houseware products includes such items as oxygenating tablets to provide bubbles of pure oxygen in the water solution to keep plants and cut flowers fresh longer; and two-in-one plastic candles that can vary in size from 12 inches to 15 inches, by means of three-inch inserts and replaceable flame tips.

Ever add curry powder to green pea soup? Serve hot or cold.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Too Rewarding!

DEAR ABBY: Do you think parents should PAY their children for getting good grades? Somehow I can't seem to convince myself that it's right, but other parents do it and get results, so maybe I'm wrong. Our son needs some sort of motivation to do better in school. Richard has as much intelligence as any of his classmates who make the honor roll, yet he barely gets by and it doesn't seem to bother him. My husband thinks we should offer him money as an incentive. Richard is only 14, but he's saving for a car. Do you think $50 for every "A" he gets and $25 for every "B" is too much?

RICHARD'S MOTHER: DEAR MOTHER: I think the whole idea of PAYING a child for the privilege of getting an education is "too much." First, Richard needs to learn the value of KNOWING things, not HAVING things. It's all right to "reward" a child for a job well done—but "bribing" him for doing what he should do for nothing makes no sense at all. Mediocrity, when one can do better, calls for discipline.

DEAR ABBY: I work, and live alone. I get very tired of eating out all the time, so I frequently invite a friend or two over to enjoy a home-cooked dinner with me. I appreciate having someone offer to help me with the dishes afterwards, but how would you like it if your guest took the dish towel out of your hands and said "Get out. I'm doing the work!"

There are two people who push me out of my own kitchen this way and it irritates me. Should I just go in the other room and sit down? Or should I say, "This is MY home, and if you want to HELP me, fine; otherwise YOU go in the other room. I'm staying."

IRRITATED: DEAR IRRITATED: Your "helpers" mean well. They're just a trifle heavy-handed. Tell them if they want to "help", they're welcome, but YOU are in charge of K.P. in your own kitchen. And put some authority in your voice.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for a year. Before I was married I was a pretty sad case. (I guess you'd say I was "promiscuous.") My husband knew about this because I was going with him at the time. When we were first married, I lied to him a few times about where I was going. I really did not cheat on him those times, but I was going with some girls. I knew he didn't like. I've been 100 per cent true to my husband since our marriage and always will be. Well, he found out I lied to him, and now he won't trust me.

Yesterday our telephone rang three times. It was the same person calling a wrong number. My husband was sure it was a man for me and I was trying to cover up, so he said, "Why don't you call your boy friend back and tell him I'll be gone all day tomorrow?" Abby, I love my husband and want him to believe me, but how can I when he's so unreasonable and suspicious?

NOT TRUSTED: DEAR NOT: You earned your husband's distrust and now you will have to win back his confidence. This can be accomplished in only one way — performance. If you consistently tread the straight and narrow, in time your "bad" reputation will fade, and a better one will replace it. It can be done, but you must avoid not only evil, but the appearance of it.

MITT FEELING—Pam Suthern needs outsize fleece mittens to handle a bowlful of shrimp, jet frozen to their cores by liquid nitrogen at 320 degrees below zero by a National Cylinder Gas process. The jet freezer made by J. W. Greer Co. is one of the exhibits at the National Frozen Foods convention at the Americana Hotel in New York City.

Wedding Vows Are Exchanged

Miss Carolyn Lewis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Adkins, 317 E. High St., and Mr. Edward E. Boyssel, Route 1, Orient, were united in marriage 7:30 p. m. Oct. 30.

Charming Musical Prodigy Is March of Dimes Child

MUSICAL MISS fingers the keyboard with great ease, but walking is a more difficult matter for five-year-old Lori Wagner of Milwaukee, the 1966 National March of Dimes Child. She is a victim of the crippling birth defect of open spine (spina bifida).

Music hath charm for five-year-old Milwaukee miss, Lori Ann Wagner, National March of Dimes girl for 1966.

In fact, music charmed little Lori onto her feet when nothing else could. Her first steps were taken not toward her doting parents or a favorite cuddly toy. This youngster headed straight for the family piano. She was 2½ then and she's been tickling the ivory ever since.

Granted, Lori's first steps were taken later than most children's—and at greater cost, because she was born with a crippling spinal defect that paralyzed her legs.

There's nothing, though, that handicaps Lori in the music department. This little lady has a great ear and can often pick out a tune after hearing it just once. She also knows all the words to numerous songs including "Hello, Dolly" and "Supercalifragilisticexpialidocious." Despite her leg braces, she can take to the dance floor for an uninhibited frug, monkey or swim.

Music and show business are in Lori's blood. Her father, Henry (Skip) Wagner, is a band leader. He plays the trumpet and 10 other instruments. The basement of the Wagner home resembles a musical instrument shop. Anytime she wants to, Lori can tinkle a trumpet, trombone, tuba or tenor saxophone, she can strum a guitar, mandolin, bass fiddle or banjo; she can beat out a rhythm on the drums, squeeze notes out of an accordion or warm up that grand piano which was her first love.

To complete Lori's theatrical genealogy, Skip's father was a vaudeville performer with a roller skating act. And two of Lori's aunts had a sister act as dancers. They still work together—operating a theatrical costume house, and both are active in March of Dimes special events.

Apart from the family tradition, Lori is something of a pro in her own right. As the Milwaukee County Poster Child for the March of Dimes last year, she was the star of the local campaign and made 12 television appearances. As the National March of Dimes Child for 1966, she might well call on the President at the White House, meet United States Senators and Congressmen, stage and screen personalities, and make public appearances all over the nation. None of it is likely to faze trouper Lori.

Her parents, who will accompany her on a March of Dimes tour during January, are bracing themselves for all eventualities. Last year, when their strawberry-blond bombshell was introduced to the mayor of a large city, she was asked if she knew who he was. "Sure, He's the big shot," responded Lori as her parents smiled weakly at the mayor.

Another time after meeting a British woman, Lori noted that "She had an English accent."

When she was nine days old, Lori had corrective surgery for her birth defect. This could not prevent paralysis but it did protect her against infection. She was fitted with leg braces when she was 18 months old, but it was another year before she could walk. It was then she headed for the piano. Doctors are hopeful that, in time, Lori may walk without the crutches and braces she now uses.

She has physical therapy exercises every day. Her mother, Mary Ellen, is trained by professionals to help out at home in every step of this important part of Lori's rehabilitation.

For the past two years, the Milwaukee County Chapter of the March of Dimes has helped finance Lori's medical care. One of their most zealous volunteers is Lori's mother, who heads the Mothers' March in her section of the city.

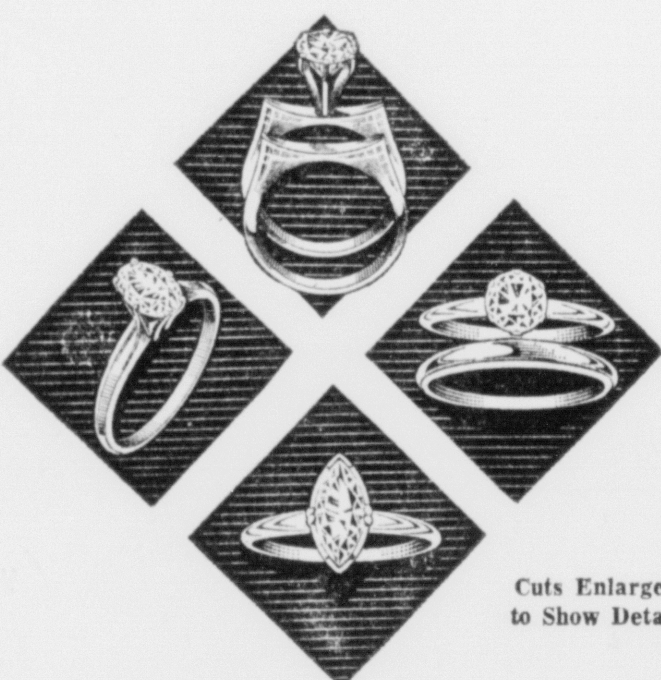

The Wagners have two younger children, both boys, who are healthy and very active.

Accused Xenia Slayer Leaves Troubled Note

XENIA, Ohio (AP)—Sheriff's deputies say a Beavercreek Township man who evidently fired the shots which killed his wife, 9-year-old son and himself Wednesday left this note: "I die that all veterans might be honored—1775-Nov. 10, 1965."

Authorities said the veteran, Earl Martin, 48, troubled mentally, had retired just last Friday from an electronics engineer position at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base.

Biggest Ohio Field Crop Is Corn

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ohio's biggest crop listed in the Agriculture Department's latest estimate of a record high national production of field crops, is corn for grain, the major livestock feed.

The Ohio corn-for-grain output this year is figured at 222,075,000 bushels, some 75 bushels per acre.

Other major Buckeye crop production for 1965 with yield per acre in parentheses: Soybeans 51,792,000 bushels (24); Tobacco 25,550,000 pounds (2.044); Apples 3,600,000 and sugar beets 494,000 tons (17).

Wheat, unchanged from the October national estimate, was not listed by states in the new report.

In the government's separate tobacco report, Ohio's 1965 burley production is estimated at 18,920,000 pounds compared to 17,480,000 last year.

Lack of Sun, Labor Curb Ohio Grape Crop

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Some $500,000 worth of Northeast Ohio's grape harvest may not reach market because of a lack of sunshine and labor.

The unexpected turn will make what was hoped to be a record 17,000-ton harvest into an average season. About 25 per cent of the harvest is expected to rot on the vines.

Much of the crop was harvested before killing frost hit the vineyards, but rain which followed the frost hampered the harvest.

William Cartee, agricultural extension agent here, said lack of sunny days caused part of the crop to ripen without the proper sugar content.

Vandals Mar Kennedy Memorial in Britain

LONDON (AP)—The Runnymede memorial to President John F. Kennedy, dedicated last May by Queen Elizabeth II and Mrs. Kennedy, has become a target of vandals.

M.J. Rogers, area agent for the National Trust, confirmed that hoodlums have scratched names and initials on the stone and daubed it with mud and paint.

The seven-ton rectangular stone rests in an acre given to the United States. Nearby, King John seven centuries ago was forced to grant the Magna Carta, one of the foundations of Western liberties.

Ohio Education Conferences Stress Change

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—You can underscore the word "change" in the education field, and spell it out in capital letters to boot.

No other single word got more use Tuesday and Wednesday at an education conference here—in talks, panel discussions and formal speeches.

Educators by the score all emphasized the word in describing, recommending, forecasting, appealing, listening, and planning the many changes taking place in elementary and secondary education.

Most of the near 3,000 attending were delegates from the school groups sponsoring the joint meeting—the Ohio School Boards Association, Ohio Association of School Administrators, Ohio Association of School Business Officials, and the Ohio Department of Education. Their session continued today.

Theme of the conference "The Next Ten Years: Meeting the Challenge of Change"—was carried through in panel discussions and work sessions.

During an early gathering Lloyd W. Dull, assistant school superintendent in Canton, noted the "complete revolution in science and mathematics instruction," and the supervisor of science for Cleveland's schools, Sanford Eisler, declared that the old methods of teaching by rote, recitation and strict memorization of masses of facts will not suffice.

"Our young people will have to be able to make decisions," Eisler said. "Science courses, in the future must be taught to develop in our young people the ability of 'learning how to learn'."

Paul A. Miller, Omaha, Neb., school superintendent, said, "Instant experience is fast becoming a necessity as well as a reality—necessity, because knowledge is piling up so fast; reality, because education and industry have joined hands to develop the technology that will bring the universal world of living experience into the lives of our youth."

Harold J. Bowers, assistant state superintendent of public instruction, noted "there is a growing demand for the development of more satisfactory instruments for measuring quality in education."

"I sometimes think that any program of school evaluation in the final analysis merely measures the quality of educational opportunity, and, therefore, reveals little about the quality of the product... if in the administration of the federal assistance program the state and local agencies fail to improve the quality of education, the federal government stands ready to move in and fill the vacuum."

Another speaker was Vance Bell, president of the Ohio Boards Association and a member of the Avon Lake Local School Board. He is editor of Steel Magazine.

Vance said "from where I look, it is clear to me that the big job ahead of us is to improve the quality of education provided for the youngsters of Ohio. This was true before the Nov. 2 election (when voters defeated a proposal to increase the sales tax to provide more money for education) and it is still true today."

Some rats seem to have an innate or inherited fear of the smell of cats. Other rats lack this fear but have an inherited fear of the sight of snakes. Biologists speculate that similar innate fears may exist in human beings.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Thursday, Nov. 11, the 315th day of 1965. There are 50 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1918, an armistice was signed and World War I came to an end.

On this date

In 1918, the independence of Poland was proclaimed.

In 1921, the Washington disarmament conference convened.

In 1942, Allied forces won control of Algeria and French Morocco.

In 1942, the Nazis took possession of unoccupied France.

In 1954, in the first observance of Veterans Day, 16,000 persons in New York City became citizens of the United States.

Ten years ago—A Navy bomber crashed into a destroyer during a simulated attack off Southern California, killing five men.

Five years ago—Troops loyal to President Ngô Đình Diệm of South Viet Nam put down a revolt a little more than 24 hours after it began.

One year ago—The new Labor government of Britain presented an emergency budget, calling for increased taxes and broadened welfare benefits.

Johnson-Erhard Parley Slated for Dec. 6-8

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP)—President Johnson will meet with Chancellor Ludwig Erhard of West Germany on Dec. 6-8, the Texas White House announced today.

There was no word of where the meeting would take place.

Assistant press secretary Joseph Laitin, pressed by newsmen for the locale of the meetings, refused to go beyond saying "that would be determined later."

WANTS THE JOB—Robert C. Weaver tells reporters in Washington that he wants the new Cabinet post of secretary of Housing and Urban Development. It replaces the Housing and Home Finance Agency which Weaver headed. Weaver is the highest ranking Negro in government, having headed HHH under Kennedy as well as President Johnson.

million people recovering and getting back to normal after Tuesday night's power blackout.

And so was the problem of "The Virginian's" hard luck neighbor and the derring-do of the "I Spy" agents chasing an escaped spy. NBC, in fact, was a comfortable channel on Wednesday night for a smooth sail away from stern reality.

"Mr. Governor," the Hope show comedy, was busy building laughs on the old device of having an especially tall, husky, pipe-smoking man forced to disguise himself as a woman. It worked with Jack Lemmon and Tony Curtis in a hit movie and it worked again Wednesday night with Tom Tryon. It was very, very broad comedy, of course, plus a mixed pair of romances and the anticipated windup — Tom lost his wig.

Throughout the day — particularly in news shows and in a pair of news specials — the TV networks busily tried to clean up the big story of the previous night's big blackout. It covered most of the essential picture and word bases, but came no closer than any other medium to solving the big mystery — the cause of the trouble.

Producers of CBS' "What's My Line?" after considering the matter for two days went back to their original idea of putting a close friend of Dorothy Kilgallen's into the late columnist's spot on the show panel next Sunday night. They chose Kitty Carlisle. The other guest on the panel will be Steve Allen, once regular on the show.

Starting next Monday, NBC's Huntley Brinkley news summary will be in color. Just what the addition will bring to its coverage is an interesting question. Both the "Today" and "Tonight" shows are using color and in both cases, it seems to this viewer, it adds little to our appreciation or enjoyment. One just hopes that the news show's editors will not henceforth pick stories on the basis of the quality of color film available.

Harsha Honored At Portsmouth

Congressman William H. Harsha, Ohio 6th District, last night was presented and Outstanding Service Award by the Portsmouth Area Chamber of Commerce.

The award was bestowed by Harry Kuhner, president of the Portsmouth Chamber, during the organization's annual banquet.

Kuhner said the honor was in recognition of Harsha's outstanding service to the congressional community, state and nation.

GLASGOW, Scotland (AP) — Andrew Quinn was sent to prison for life Tuesday, the first murderer to be sentenced since Britain abolished the death penalty Monday.

Young Actor Recalls First Fee Was for All of $10

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Wayne Newton's first job in show business was a Christmas show for a labor union in his native Roanoke, Va. He was 10, and the fee amounted to $10, which he split with his brother.

He's a big boy now, all of 23, and he estimates his earnings so far this year amount to three-quarters of a million dollars. That doesn't include November and December.

How did the young Virginian come so far? By learning his trade, which is singing and playing everything from banjo to violin. He acquired his education in the toughest school for an entertainer: the Las Vegas lounge.

The lounges of that gold-rush town are people-packed boxes where performers must compete with the rattle of dice and ice cubes. "Hecklers? I've seen every kind," says Wayne. "When I get them in clubs now-

W-O-W IS RIGHT—Cpl. Dan P. Sheehan, Torrance, Calif., smilingly points to a ragged bullet hole which forms the "O" in "WOW," chalked on the side of his U.S. Marine helicopter somewhere in South Viet Nam. The hole, in line with Sheehan's seat, was put in the copter by a Viet Cong sniper moments after Sheehan left the craft to deliver ammunition to a Marine patrol.

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — She knew something was wrong the moment she awoke.

She roused her husband. "It's 8 o'clock," she said, "what about the baby?"

The baby, a healthy three-month-old, had been waking her parents at 6:45 each morning — as regularly as an alarm clock.

The mother had checked the infant at 6 a.m. found her sleeping, and had gone back to bed.

Now, hearing nothing, she checked again. The baby was cold and was not breathing.

Frantically, the mother called the fire department to send a crew with a resuscitator, but the infant could not be revived. The child was pronounced dead a short time later at a hospital.

Dr. Gale Wilson, King County autopsy surgeon, told the parents he saw many such cases every year. The death would be entered as acute pneumonitis. Doctors didn't know what brought it on, but whatever it was it was terribly fast.

Some 15,000 such deaths occur in the United States each year.

In the Seattle area, eight bereaved couples have formed the Washington Association for Sudden Infant Death Study. Thanks in part to their efforts, an ambitious research project is under way to determine what causes what doctors call the sudden death syndrome, but commonly known as "crib deaths."

The association got its start with a card of sympathy. Mrs. Francis R. Jones, a Seattle policeman's wife, sent one to State Sen. and Mrs. Fred T. Dore. Mrs. Jones did not know the Dores, but had read in a newspaper that they had found their youngest child dead in its crib on the same day she and her husband lost a baby in the same way.

Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Dore became acquainted. Then Mrs. Dore heard of another crib death and wrote a note of sympathy to the parents. A few couples got together and held a meeting, with a pediatrician as a speaker.

They learned that pathologists in various parts of the country had been doing research on possible causes of the sudden unexplained deaths.

But most studies were hampered, the parents were told, by being limited to autopsies performed in coroner's offices.

Sen. Dore went to see King County Coroner Leo Sowers and asked him if he was aware of the problem. He was very aware of it, Sowers said. Nine years earlier, he and his wife had lost a child to the sudden death syndrome.

With the help of Dore, a Democrat, and Sowers, a Republican, a bill was put through the 1963 Washington Legislature. It changed the coroner law so that cases of sudden infant death could be referred to the University of Washington Medical School for autopsy.

A $20,000 appropriation was passed and renewed in 1965. After a two-year preliminary study, the university medical school transferred the base of the research project to Children's Orthopedic Hospital and

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Thursday, Nov. 11, the 315th day of 1965. There are 50 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1918, an armistice was signed and World War I came to an end.

On this date

In 1918, the independence of Poland was proclaimed.

In 1921, the Washington disarmament conference convened.

In 1942, Allied forces won control of Algeria and French Morocco.

In 1942, the Nazis took possession of unoccupied France.

In 1954, in the first observance of Veterans Day, 16,000 persons in New York City became citizens of the United States.

Ten years ago—A Navy bomber crashed into a destroyer during a simulated attack off Southern California, killing five men.

Five years ago—Troops loyal to President Ngo Dinh Diem of South Viet Nam put down a revolt a little more than 24 hours after it began.

One year ago—The new Labor government of Britain presented an emergency budget, calling for increased taxes and broadened welfare benefits.

Johnson-Erhard Parley Slated for Dec. 6-8

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP)—President Johnson will meet with Chancellor Ludwig Erhard of West Germany on Dec. 6, 8, the Texas White House announced today.

There was no word of where the meeting would take place.

Assistant press secretary Joseph Laitin, pressed by newsmen for the locale of the meetings, refused to go beyond saying "that would be determined later."

WANTS THE JOB—Robert C. Weaver tells reporters in Washington that he wants the new Cabinet post of secretary of Housing and Urban Development. It replaces the Housing and Home Finance Agency which Weaver headed. Weaver is the highest ranking Negro in government, having headed HHP under Kennedy as well as President Johnson.

million people recovering and getting back to normal after Tuesday night's power blackout.

And so was the problem of "The Virginian's" hard luck neighbor and the derring-do of the "I Spy" agents chasing an escaped spy. NBC, in fact, was a comfortable channel on Wednesday night for a smooth sail away from stern reality.

"Mr. Governor," the Hope show comedy, was busy building laughs on the old device of having an especially tall, husky, pipe-smoking man forced to disguise himself as a woman. It worked with Jack Lemmon and Tony Curtis in a hit movie and it worked again Wednesday night with Tom Tryon. It was very, very broad comedy, of course, plus a mixed pair of romances and the anticipated windup — Tom lost his wig.

Throughout the day — particularly in news shows and in a pair of news specials — the TV networks busily tried to clean up the big story of the previous night's big blackout. It covered most of the essential picture and word bases, but came no closer than any other medium to solving the big mystery — the cause of the trouble.

Producers of CBS' "What's My Line?" after considering the matter for two days went back to their original idea of putting a close friend of Dorothy Kilgallen's into the late columnist's spot on the show panel next Sunday night. They chose Kitty Carlisle. The other guest on the panel will be Steve Allen, once regular on the show.

Starting next Monday, NBC's Huntley Brinkley news summary will be in color. Just what the addition will bring to its coverage is an interesting question. Both the "Today" and "Tonight" shows are using color and in both cases, it seems to this viewer, it adds little to our appreciation or enjoyment. One just hopes that the news show's editors will not henceforth pick stories on the basis of the quality of color film available.

Harsha Honored
At Portsmouth

Congressman William H. Harsha, Ohio 6th District, last night was presented and Outstanding Service Award by the Portsmouth Area Chamber of Commerce.

The award was bestowed by Harry Kuhner, president of the Portsmouth Chamber, during the organization's annual banquet.

Kuhner said the honor was in recognition of Harsha's outstanding service to the congressional community, state and nation.

Scot Sent to Prison

GLASGOW, Scotland (AP) — Andrew Quinn was sent to prison for life Tuesday, the first murderer to be sentenced since Britain abolished the death penalty Monday.

Quinn, 44, a brickyard worker, pleaded guilty to shooting his boss after being fired.

Young Actor Recalls First
Fee Was for All of $10

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Wayne Newton's first job in show business was a Christmas show for a labor union in his native Roanoke, Va. He was 10, and the fee amounted to $10, which he split with his brother.

He's a big boy now, all of 23, and he estimates his earnings so far this year amount to three-quarters of a million dollars. That doesn't include November and December.

How did the young Virginian come so far? By learning his trade, which is singing and playing everything from banjo to violin. He acquired his education in the toughest school for an entertainer: the Las Vegas lounge.

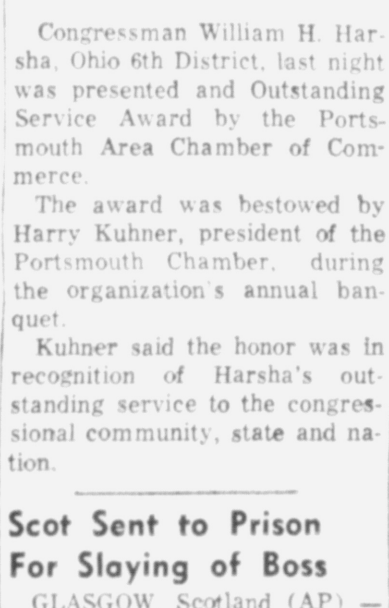

The lounges of that gold-rush town are people-packed boxes where performers must compete with the rattle of dice and ice cubes. "Hecklers" I've seen every kind," says Wayne. "When I get them in clubs nowadays, it's a cinch for me to handle the situation."

Newton recently completed a two-week run at the Coconut Grove, a booking he had avoided for three years because "I wasn't ready." On opening night there could be no doubt that he was ready. Many leading figures in the entertainment world gave him a standing ovation at the close of his power-charged act.

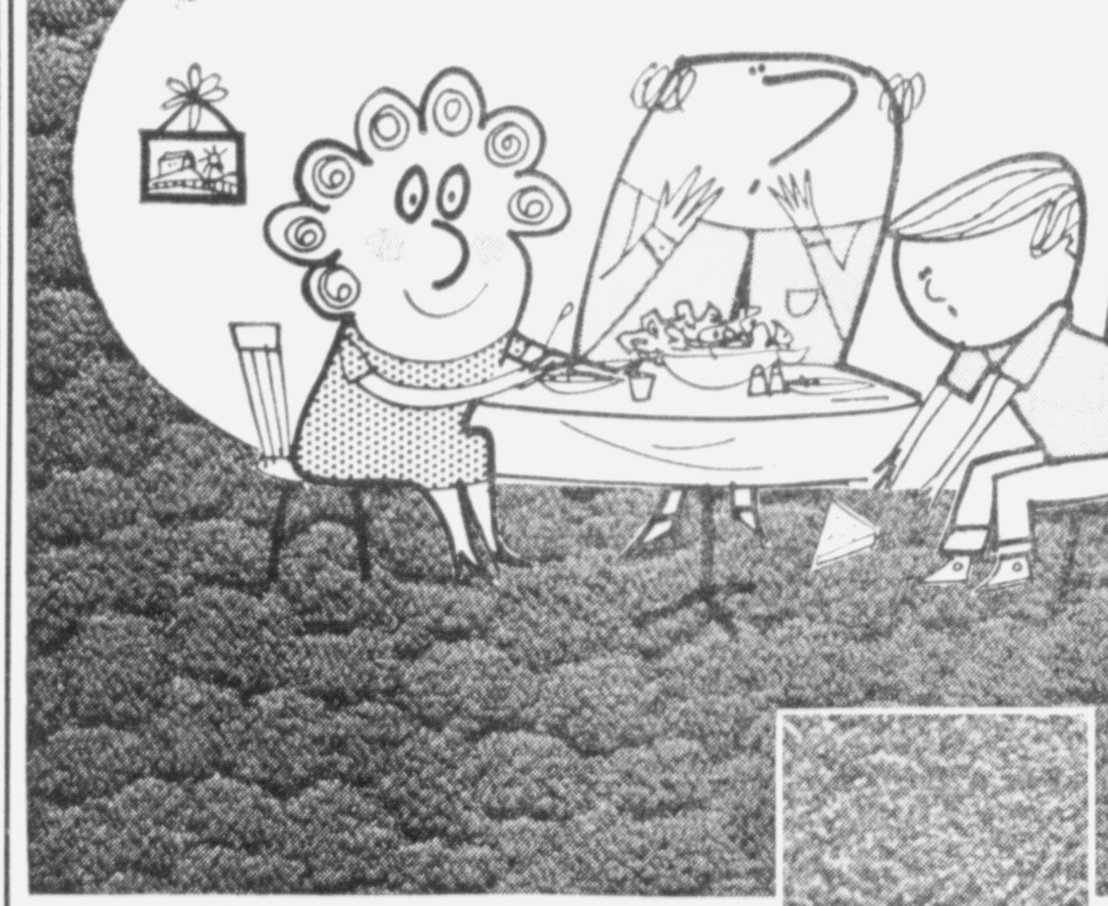

Newsmen have found him to be respectful and earnest. Like Elvis Presley, he addresses reporters as "sir." Like other multitiered stars who become big enterprises — Newton has two corporations, is forming a third — he refers to his performing self as "we."

"We got our first big break when Jackie Gleason saw us in Phoenix and put us on his television show," he will say. "He put us on his show 12 times."

'Crib Death' Mystery Is Battled

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — She knew something was wrong the moment she awoke.

She roused her husband. "It's 8 o'clock," she said, "what about the baby?"

The baby, a healthy three-month-old, had been waking her parents at 6:45 each morning — as regularly as an alarm clock.

The mother had checked the infant at 6 a.m. found her sleeping, and had gone back to bed.

Now, hearing nothing, she checked again. The baby was cold and was not breathing.

Frantically, the mother called the fire department to send a crew with a resuscitator, but the infant could not be revived. The child was pronounced dead a short time later at a hospital.

Dr. Gale Wilson, King County autopsy surgeon, told the parents he saw many such cases every year. The death would be entered as acute pneumonia. Doctors didn't know what brought it on, but whatever it was it was terribly fast.

Some 15,000 such deaths occur in the United States each year.

In the Seattle area, eight bereaved couples have formed the Washington Association for Sudden Infant Death Study. Thanks in part to their efforts, an ambitious research project is under way to determine what causes what doctors call the sudden death syndrome, but commonly known as "crib deaths."

The association got its start with a card of sympathy. Mrs. Francis R. Jones, a Seattle policeman's wife, sent one to State Sen. and Mrs. Fred T. Dore. Mrs. Jones did not know the Dores, but had read in a newspaper that they had found their youngest child dead in its crib on the same day she and her husband lost a baby in the same way.

Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Dore became acquainted. Then Mrs. Dore heard of another crib death and wrote a note of sympathy to the parents. A few couples got together and held a meeting, with a pediatrician as a speaker.

They learned that pathologists in various parts of the country had been doing research on possible causes of the sudden unexplained deaths.

But most studies were hampered, the parents were told, by being limited to autopsies performed in coroner's offices.

Sen. Dore went to see King County Coroner Leo Sowers and asked him if he was aware of the problem. He was very aware of it, Sowers said. Nine years earlier, he and his wife had lost a child to the sudden death syndrome.

With the help of Dore, a Democrat, and Sowers, a Republican, a bill was put through the 1963 Washington Legislature. It changed the coroner law so that cases of sudden infant death could be referred to the University of Washington Medical School for autopsy.

A $20,000 appropriation was passed and renewed in 1965. After a two-year preliminary study, the university medical school transferred the base of the research project to Children's Orthopedic Hospital and Medical center.

Children's Orthopedic has received a $144,000 three-year grant from the National Institutes of Health for the study. Bruce Beckwith and Abraham Bergman, faculty members at the university who are on the staff at the hospital, are conducting it. Sowers has made Dr. Beckwith a deputy coroner.

Earlier in his career, Dr. Beckwith performed 300 autopsies on sudden infant death victims in four years as a pathologist with the Los Angeles County coroner's office. Dr. Bergman, a pediatrician, also has had previous experience with the problem.

They expect it will be at least three years before they have any conclusive results.

"We're satisfied that there is more than one factor," says Dr. Beckwith, "but probably the majority will be found to be due to one cause."

Dr. Bergman has found the syndrome to be very uncommon beneath the age of three weeks, most common between two and three months, uncommon after six months and almost unheard of after one year.

"We feel it is the single most common cause of infant death outside of the newborn period," says Dr. Bergman. "We know it is happening all over the world. There is research being done on it in various places in the United States, in England and, we understand, in Czechoslovakia."

News of World in Brief

CLEVELAND (AP) — Police say a 40-year-old parolee, who told them he never passed bogus checks at cafes because he considered it unethical, managed to pass more than $20,000 worth before he was caught Wednesday.

Charles O'Malley, who was paroled from the London prison farm in 1964 after serving time for forgery and defrauding an innkeeper, told Parma Heights and Cleveland police he had little difficulty in passing the checks.

He said he never passed checks at cafes because "they work too hard for their money." He said he concentrated on super markets and discount stores.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State University officials investigating the reported abduction of a youth from a fraternity house here last Friday believe it was a prank.

"Our investigation so far removes the incident from the category of hazing and this was our initial concern," said John T. Bonner, executive dean of student relations.

The youth, Howard J. Cihak of Bedford Heights, was handcuffed, blindfolded and taken to a quarry at Marblehead on Lake Erie and abandoned there. He had been taken from the Delta Chi fraternity house, presumably by five pledges.

Bonner said after the investigation is completed, it will be decided if disciplinary action will be taken.

DUESSELFORD, Germany (AP)—A European tour by Ohio industrialist, led by Gov. James Rhodes, today was called "tremendously successful" by state Development Director Fred Neuenschwander.

"We have done a considerable amount of business already," he told a newsman.

Most of the businessmen arrived from Brussels Wednesday. They will spend two and a half days in this industrial center and are primarily interested in setting up joint ventures with west German concerns, Neuenschwander said.

Gov. Rhodes flew to Israel today and will rejoin the group later this month in Italy.

NEW YORK (AP) — A young pacifist has died of burns 33 hours after he doused himself with gasoline and set himself afire in front of the United Nations in a protest against war.

Roger LaPorte, 20, who was burned on 95 per cent of his body, was the third American to die of self-inflicted burns this year in pacifist demonstrations.

LaPorte died Wednesday. Bellevue Hospital's Roman Catholic chaplain, the Rev. Alexander Busuttill, said LaPorte was "clear and expressive" as he received the last rites of the Church in which he once sought priesthood.

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Sen. Harry F. Byrd, a strong voice for economy in Washington for the past 30 years and head of Virginia's dominant Democratic state organization, announced his retirement today.

Gov. Albertis S. Harrison Jr. made the disclosure at a hastily called news conference. He said the resignation was effective immediately and that he planned to name an interim successor until the next general election in November 1966.

Harrison gave no intimation of anyone he had in mind to succeed him.

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson's Labor government expects to pick up another vote in a special election today and increase its one-vote majority in Parliament.

Labor party leaders were confident that their candidate, A. James Wellbeloved, 39, would win the House of Commons seat from Erith and Crayford, a Labor stronghold.

The seat became vacant with the death last August of Norman Dodds, who rolled up a majority of almost 9,000 votes over his Conservative opponent in the national elections last year.

The Conservative candidate is David Madel, 27.

THE HAGUE (AP) — Crown Princess Beatrix's marriage to West German commoner Claus Von Arnsberg was assured of parliamentary approval Wednesday night.

The lower house approved the match 132-9 in the first parliamentary vote on a royal marriage in modern Dutch history.

A second vote to make Von Arnsberg a Dutch citizen was approved 135-60.

The bills now go to the Senate, where approval is certain. The wedding will take place in March in Amsterdam.

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) —Ten to 15 per cent of the patients in Australian hospitals are suffering from illnesses induced by their own doctors, the chairman of the Victoria State Committee of the Royal Australian College of Physicians said today.

Dr. John L. Frew blamed the multitude of tablets dispensed by the National Health Service. He said these tablets often produce undesirable side-effects.

Scotland can claim a particularly rich store thanks to the prolific Robert Burns, whose lyrics provided some hundred songs with words set to traditional melodies. And Burns — like many another poet of his era — wrote lyrics about the countryside he knew best.

William Douglas in 1700 wrote about a Maxwellton House near Dumfries, the birthplace of his Annie Laurie. The house still stands. Annie was a real person, but unfortunately she married another, an Alexander Ferguson.

Loch Lomond is as beautiful as the song suggests, and there is little question that the popularity of this but-one-of-many of Scotland's magnificent lochs would not be nearly so popular with tourists were it not for the song.

The great Welsh song "Men of Harlech" was inspired by the 1468 march to defend Harlech Castle during the Wars of the Roses. The walls of the castle still stand, but were it not for the song it is doubtful if the castle would have left a mark in history.

Of particular emotional power is the beautiful "Londonderry Air." The haunting melody and nostalgic words introduced Derry Vale to the world. The melody is ancient but the song was published for the first time in 1855.

Since then it has been sung all over the world and has become virtually a theme for the displaced Ulstermen of Northern Ireland. Today, as has been the case for centuries, the walled city of Londonderry may be visited by the traveler as may the undulating Faughn Valley and the Derry Vale of the song.

"The Lass of Richmond Hill," who lived in a little town overlooking the Thames in Surrey,

It seemed like a rather low bid," bankruptcy trustee Jerome Jelin said Wednesday night after several hundred persons jammed the Alpine Resort at this Warren County community.

"The case won't be final until after a meeting Friday morning in the U. S. District Court at Cincinnati and it is my understanding that someone else may come into the court and enter the bid."

Jelin said Wednesday's highest bid was submitted by an attorney for a client of the Cincinnati law firm of Paxton and Seasingood. The scheduled auction brought inquiries from as far as New York.

Houston sank about half a million dollars into the Alpine Resort, which was to have been a complete year-round sports and recreation center. When the bankruptcy proceedings were filed they listed debts of $383,319 and assets of $716,292, but the 54-year-old local businessman was not able to raise the money to pay the creditors.

There were beggar holidays some 400 years ago to permit the poor to call on more favored neighbors for largess. Considerable activity centered around Allhallowes Even, or Halloween.

This photo was taken from one of the bonny, bonny banks of Loch Lomond, which is as beautiful as the old song.

Countrysides of Britain Seen in Old Song Titles

By STEVE LIBBY

Written Especially for Central Press and This Newspaper

The map of Britain is full of names associated with ancient madrigals and old songs which have become the traditional aires of England, Scotland, Ireland and Wales.

Scotland can claim a particularly rich store thanks to the prolific Robert Burns, whose lyrics provided some hundred songs with words set to traditional melodies. And Burns — like many another poet of his era — wrote lyrics about the countryside he knew best.

Baptists OK Legal Test Of Bus Law

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The state convention of Baptists of Ohio has issued a call for action to scotch the state's new law extending public school service to parochial schools.

The Ohio religious group, part of the Southern Baptist Convention, contends the 1965 act effective Jan. 1, 1966, violates the constitutional guarantee of separation of church and state.

Opponents of the law say it tends to favor Roman Catholics who operate their own tax-supported public schools.

Messenger (delegate) M. Willard Dobbs, a Columbus lawyer, drafted and presented Wednesday at the annual convention a resolution to test the bus legislation in court.

About 250 of the convention's 500 messengers were present for balloting and gave the resolution.

It would be the first time, a spokesman said, any religious body in the United States has become directly involved in such a suit.

Although the law is scheduled to take effect Jan. 1, the State Board of Education isn't planning to begin actual transportation of nonpublic school students until the 1966-67 school year.

News of World in Brief

CLEVELAND (AP) — Police say a 40-year-old parolee, who told them he never passed bogus checks at cafes because he considered it unethical, managed to pass more than $20,000 worth before he was caught Wednesday.

Charles O'Malley, who was paroled from the London prison farm in 1964 after serving time for forgery and defrauding an innkeeper, told Parma Heights and Cleveland police he had little difficulty in passing the checks.

He said he never passed checks at cafes because "they work too hard for their money." He said he concentrated on super markets and discount stores.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State University officials investigating the reported abduction of a youth from a fraternity house here last Friday believe it was a prank.

"Our investigation so far removes the incident from the category of hazing and this was our initial concern," said John T. Bonner, executive dean of student relations.

The youth, Howard J. Cihak of Bedford Heights, was handcuffed, blindfolded and taken to a quarry at Marblehead on Lake Erie and abandoned there. He had been taken from the Delta Chi fraternity house, presumably by five pledges.

Bonner said after the investigation is completed, it will be decided if disciplinary action will be taken.

DUESSELFORD, Germany (AP)—A European tour by Ohio industrialist, led by Gov. James Rhodes, today was called "tremendously successful" by state Development Director Fred Neuenschwander.

"We have done a considerable amount of business already," he told a newsman.

Most of the businessmen arrived from Brussels Wednesday. They will spend two and a half days in this industrial center and are primarily interested in setting up joint ventures with west German concerns, Neuenschwander said.

Gov. Rhodes flew to Israel today and will rejoin the group later this month in Italy.

NEW YORK (AP) — A young pacifist has died of burns 33 hours after he doused himself with gasoline and set himself afire in front of the United Nations in a protest against war.

Roger LaPorte, 20, who was burned on 95 per cent of his body, was the third American to die of self-inflicted burns this year in pacifist demonstrations. LaPorte died Wednesday.

Bellevue Hospital's Roman Catholic chaplain, the Rev. Alexander Busuttill, said LaPorte was "clear and expressive" as he received the last rites of the Church in which he once sought priesthood.

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Sen. Harry F. Byrd, a strong voice for economy in Washington for the past 30 years and head of Virginia's dominant Democratic state organization, announced his retirement today.

Gov. Albertis S. Harrison Jr. made the disclosure at a hastily called news conference. He said the resignation was effective immediately and that he planned to name an interim successor until the next general election in November 1966.

Harrison gave no intimation of anyone he had in mind to suc-

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson's Labor government expects to pick up another vote in a special election today and increase its one-vote majority in Parliament.

Labor party leaders were confident that their candidate, A. James Wellbeloved, 39, would win the House of Commons seat from Erith and Crayford, a Labor stronghold.

The seat became vacant with the death last August of Norman Dodds, who rolled up a majority of almost 9,000 votes over his Conservative opponent in the national elections last year.

The Conservative candidate is David Madel, 27.

THE HAGUE (AP) — Crown Princess Beatrix's marriage to West German commoner Claus Von Arnsberg was assured of parliamentary approval Wednesday night.

The lower house approved the match 132-9 in the first parliamentary vote on a royal marriage in modern Dutch history. A second vote to make Von Arnsberg a Dutch citizen was approved 135-60.

The bills now go to the Senate, where approval is certain. The wedding will take place in March in Amsterdam.

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) —Ten to 15 per cent of the patients in Australian hospitals are suffering from illnesses induced by their own doctors, the chairman of the Victoria State Committee of the Royal Australian College of Physicians said today.

Dr. John L. Frew blamed the multitude of tablets dispensed by the National Health Service. He said these tablets often produce undesirable side-effects.

Sale of Spa Brings Bid Of $203,000

MORROW, Ohio (AP) — A bid of $203,000 has been entered for Lester Houston's million-dollar dream—but there is a chance another bidder may appear before the matter is closed.

"It seemed like a rather low bid," bankruptcy trustee Jerome Jelin said Wednesday night after several hundred persons jammed the Alpine Resort at this Warren County community.

"The case won't be final until after a meeting Friday morning in the U. S. District Court at Cincinnati and it is my understanding that someone else may come into the court and enter the bid."

Jelin said Wednesday's highest bid was submitted by an attorney for a client of the Cincinnati law firm of Paxton and Seasongood. The scheduled auction brought inquiries from as far as New York.

Houston sank about half a million dollars into the Alpine Resort, which was to have been a complete year-round sports and recreation center. When the bankruptcy proceedings were filed they listed debts of $383,319 and assets of $716,292, but the 54-year-old local businessman was not able to raise the money to pay the creditors.

There were bigger holidays some 400 years ago to permit the poor to call on more favored neighbors for largess. Considerable activity centered around Allhallow's Even, or Halloween.

Countrysides of Britain Seen in Old Song Titles

By STEVE LIBBY
Written Especially for Central Press and This Newspaper

The map of Britain is full of names associated with ancient madrigals and old songs which have become the traditional aires of England, Scotland, Ireland and Wales.

Scotland can claim a particularly rich store thanks to the prolific Robert Burns, whose lyrics provided some hundred songs with words set to traditional melodies. And Burns — like many another poet of his era — wrote lyrics about the countryside he knew best.

William Douglas in 1790 wrote about a Maxwellton House near Dumfries, the birthplace of his Annie Laurie. The house still stands. Annie was a real person, but unfortunately she married another, an Alexander Ferguson.

Loch Lomond is as beautiful as the song suggests, and there is little question that the popularity of this but-one-of-many of Scotland's magnificent lochs would not be nearly so popular with tourists were it not for the song.

The great Welsh song "Men of Harlech" was inspired by the 1468 march to defend Harlech Castle during the Wars of the Roses. The walls of the castle still stand, but were it not for the song it is doubtful if the castle would have left a mark in history.

Of particular emotional power is the beautiful "Londonderry Air." The haunting melody and nostalgic words introduced Derry Vale to the world. The melody is ancient but the song was published for the first time in 1855.

Since then it has been sung all over the world and has become virtually a theme for the displaced Ulstermen of Northern Ireland. Today, as has been the case for centuries, the walled city of Londonderry may be visited by the traveler as may the undulating Faughn Valley and the Derry Vale of the song.

"The Lass of Richmond Hill," who lived in a little town overlooking the Thames in Surrey, was a real young lady who married a man named Leonard MacNally, author of the words to the song. The ancient castle still stands overlooking the rushing waters of the Swale River.

Remember "Weddicombe Fair?" Today's spelling Widdicombe-in-the-Moore, is the site for the west country song which was the scene, decades ago, for the fun of the fair. Today the area is better-known for some of Dartmoor's highly magnificent and unusual scenery.

The most popular of all English hunting songs, "Dye Ken John Peel," is set at Cumberland in the lake district. Here the words of John Peel's friend, John Woodcock Graves—a woolen weaver from Caldbeck—were set to the melody of the old folk tune "Bonnie Annie."

And so it goes with many more ancient British songs, most of the music traditional, many of the lyrics written by well-known poets whose writings are known around the globe. But, in the main, the words were written about very real people and very real places—which places are as much a part of the countryside of the British Isles as may be found in any travel folder.

Thailand Foils Red Plot for Disturbance

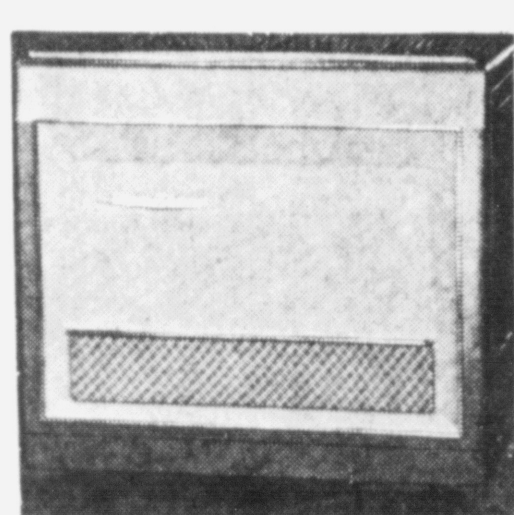

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Interior Minister Praphas Tharusathien said today the Thai government foiled a Communist plot to "create disturbances" during Armed Forces Day celebrations Monday.

Praphas said he placed all security forces on the alert as soon as intelligence sources told him of the plot.

The alert still was in force today, Praphas told a news conference, but he did not elaborate on the Red plot.

Baptists OK Legal Test Of Bus Law

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The state convention of Baptists of Ohio has issued a call for action to scotch the state's new law extending public school service to parochial schools.

The Ohio religious group, part of the Southern Baptist Convention, contends the 1965 act effective Jan. 1, 1966, violates the constitutional guarantee of separation of church and state.

Opponents of the law say it tends to favor Roman Catholics who operate their own tax-supported public schools.

Messenger (delegate) M. Willard Dobbs, a Columbus lawyer, drafted and presented Wednesday at the annual convention a resolution to test the bus legislation in court.

About 250 of the convention's 500 messengers were present for balloting and gave the resolution.

It would be the first time, a spokesman said, any religious body in the United States has become directly involved in such a suit.

Although the law is scheduled to take effect Jan. 1, the State Board of Education isn't planning to begin actual transportation of nonpublic school students until the 1966-67 school year.

Ohio's Complex Election Laws Go to Court

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's complex election laws face a new test in the State Supreme Court.

This time the issue deals with a dispute over the sufficiency of nominating petitions in the Nov. 2 election of a Youngstown municipal judge.

The issues are not new but Mahoning County Prosecutor Clyde W. Osborne says he wants the high court to settle, among other things, the question of whether one or more invalid names voids an entire petition.

Osborne is readying an appeal from a 7th District appellate court decision making Joseph Donofrio a candidate after the county election board rejected his petitions for "insufficient names" and common pleas court dismissed his mandamus suit. Osborne represents the election board.

After the appeals court held that his petitions bore the required 551 valid signatures, Donofrio defeated Don L. Hanni.

The secretary of state's office said Donofrio could be sworn and receive an election certificate to become judge unless a court prevents it.

Donofrio filed petitions last Feb. 2 bearing 736 names. The board threw out several petitions because they bore a few unqualified signatures, leaving him with only 327 signers. He then filed supplementary petitions and went to court.

Appellate judges held in a 2-1 ruling that election boards have power to invalidate any signature "it deems to be other than genuine". But the decision added:

"It may not invalidate all other genuine signatures . . . signed in the presence of a circulator, unless there is evidence that the circulator knew the signature was false and, notwithstanding that knowledge, he made a false and perjured affidavit to the contrary with intent to deceive such board."

Records showed that in one case the board invalidated an entire petition containing 15 names because the circulator allowed a wife to take the petition to her ill husband in an upstairs bedroom for signing while the circulator remained downstairs in their home.

"This clearly was an abuse of discretion," the appeals court said.

Another circulator admitted that he obtained permission by telephone to place names on a petition that was thrown out.

On another point, the court said statements of candidacy, identical in all other respects, are not invalidated when notarized by different notaries public.

Taking note that Secretary of State Ted W. Brown reviewed Donofrio's petitions, the court said:

"While we respect Ted W. Brown as a conscientious public official who has ably performed his duties as chief election official of Ohio, we have to recognize that he is not the final authority on election laws."

"The ultimate authority on election laws in Ohio is the Supreme Court."

Navy Submersible Seaplane May Soon Become Real Thing

By GROVER BRINKMAN
Central Press Association
Correspondent

SAN DIEGO, Calif. — If you think the artist's drawing of a combination aircraft - submarine reproduced above is pure myth, think again!

At a recent U. S. Navy anti-submarine warfare conference here, the daring concept of a seaplane which could both fly and submerge was considered by underwater experts as "feasible, practical and well within the state of possibility."

Although today the submersible seaplane is only in its development stages, it could prove of tremendous importance to future underwater research.

The Man in the Moon is getting more familiar each day. It's old King Neptune at the bottom of the sea, who rules a far more mysterious area.

Almost three - fourths of the Earth's surface lies beneath the ocean. Less is known about this giant area than the far-away places. Here is great, untold wealth, chemical and mineral treasure, once man learns to tap the floor.

Already more than 300 companies are in the underwater exploration race though it has been 10 years since the world's first nuclear powered vessel, the submarine Nautilus, put to sea off Groton, Conn.

Newest nuclear subs, such as the Polaris - firing Casimir Pulaski, and the blimp-shaped Skipjack, can go even deeper, travel faster, and remain submerged much longer than the historic Nautilus could.

The unbelievable accomplishments of our nuclear subs are well known. The Nautilus and the Skate both traveled under the North Pole ice pack. The Seawolf established a record by staying down for 60 days. The Triton traveled around the world submerged in 84 days. The Scorpion remained down for 87 days, all terrific records.

ROCK 'N' ROLLERS GET INJUNCTION—Three members of a rock 'n' roll quartet called "The Other Four," (from left) Kenneth Pernicano, Norman Lombardo and Larry McSeaton, all 14, obtained a temporary court injunction against the Board of Education in San Diego, Calif., to prevent their transfer to a school for students with special problems. The board ordered their transfer because they refused to part with their Beatle haircuts.

ON THIS VETERANS' DAY,
THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 11th

May we all join in honoring each and every citizen for his or her valor, as a member of the Armed Forces of the United States, in times of national anxiety and war!

Princess Is Resting In Arizona

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Britain's Princess Margaret gets a look at the stark beauty of the old West today—and probably a kitchen refrigerator where an invitation to her wedding once was stored.

The princess and her husband, the Earl of Snowdon, arrived Wednesday from Los Angeles for a 4½-day rest to break up their three-week tour of the United States.

No trace of the laryngitis that plagued her in smoggy Los Angeles was present when she made a planeside speech at Davis-Monthan Air Force Base.

Waiting at the plane along with Gov. Sam Goddard were her host, Lewis Douglas, and his wife. Their daughter, Sharman, and Princess Margaret became close friends when Douglas was ambassador to Great Britain in 1948-50.

So close are the princess and the Douglasses that when they did not reply to her wedding invitation, she sent them another cable.

"What happened," said a friend of the Douglasses, "was that Lew and his wife were in New York and their Mexican help couldn't read the invitation when it arrived at the ranch."

"The help saw the big, red royal seal on the back and thought it might melt. So they put the invitation in the refrigerator."

The Douglasses attended the wedding. They found the first invitation months later, still in the refrigerator.

About 200 foot doctors are expected to attend the course.

Other industrial groups with average weekly earnings in Pickaway County during 1964 are:

Mining and quarrying, average of 39 workers with earnings of $93.24; contract construction, 218, with earnings of $109.31; non-durable goods, 1,627, with earnings of $129.33; food and kindred products, 301, with average weekly earnings of $105.26; printing, publishing, allied industries, 43 employees with average weekly earnings of $93.10; chemicals and allied products, 955 employees with earnings of $145.01; transportation, 1,097 workers with earnings of $86.98; banks, securities and finance, 122 employees with average weekly earnings of $77.99; services, 154 workers with average earnings of $47.27.

According to the report, there were more Pickaway Countians employed during September than any other month of 1964, with figures listed at 4,474. March showed the least amount with 4,137 workers.

Tabulations show the employment rate increases steadily for the months of May, June, July, August and September when a peak is reached. It gradually falls from October through March.

By way of comparison, the industrial payroll weekly average for 1963 was $97.68. In 1964 the figure jumped to $100.89.

According to the report, average weekly earnings increased for each of the various industrial groups, with the exception of contract construction. In 1963 the weekly average for contract construction workers was $116.26. Last year's was $109.31.

Ohio's Complex Election Laws Go to Court

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's complex election laws face a new test in the State Supreme Court.

This time the issue deals with a dispute over the sufficiency of nominating petitions in the Nov. 2 election of a Youngstown municipal judge.

The issues are not new but Mahoning County Prosecutor Clyde W. Osborne says he wants the high court to settle, among other things, the question of whether one or more invalid names voids an entire petition.

Osborne is readying an appeal from a 7th District appellate court decision making Joseph Donofrio a candidate after the county election board rejected his petitions for "insufficient names" and common pleas court dismissed his mandamus suit. Osborne represents the election board.

After the appeals court held that his petitions bore the required 551 valid signatures, Donofrio defeated Don L. Hanni. The secretary of state's office said Donofrio could be sworn and receive an election certificate to become judge unless a court prevents it.

Donofrio filed petitions last Feb. 2 bearing 736 names. The board threw out several petitions because they bore a few unqualified signatures, leaving him with only 327 signers. He then filed supplementary petitions and went to court.

Appellate judges held in a 2-1 ruling that election boards have power to invalidate any signature "it deems to be other than genuine." But the decision added:

"It may not invalidate all other genuine signatures . . . signed in the presence of a circulator, unless there is evidence that the circulator knew the signature was false and, notwithstanding that knowledge, he made a false and perjured affidavit to the contrary with intent to deceive such board."

Records showed that in one case the board invalidated an entire petition containing 15 names because the circulator allowed a wife to take the petition to her ill husband in an upstairs bedroom for signing while the circulator remained downstairs in their home.

"This clearly was an abuse of discretion," the appeals court said.

Another circulator admitted that he obtained permission by telephone to place names on a petition that was thrown out.

On another point, the court said statements of candidacy, identical in all other respects, are not invalidated when notarized by different notaries public.

Taking note that Secretary of State Ted W. Brown reviewed Donofrio's petitions, the court said:

"While we respect Ted W. Brown as a conscientious public official who has ably performed his duties as chief election official of Ohio, we have to recognize that he is not the final authority on election laws."

The ultimate authority on election laws in Ohio is the Supreme Court.

Navy Submersible Seaplane May Soon Become Real Thing

By GROVER BRINKMAN

SAN DIEGO, Calif. — If you think the artist's drawing of a combination aircraft - submarine reproduced above is pure myth, think again!

At a recent U. S. Navy anti-submarine warfare conference here, the daring concept of a seaplane which could both fly and submerge was considered by underwater experts as "feasible, practical and well within the state of possibility."

Although today the submersible seaplane is only in its development stages, it could prove of tremendous importance to future underwater research.

The Man in the Moon is getting more familiar each day. It's old King Neptune at the bottom of the sea, who rules a far more mysterious area.

Almost three - fourths of the Earth's surface lies beneath the ocean. Less is known about this giant area than the far-away places. Here is great, untold wealth, chemical and mineral treasure, once man learns to tap the field.

Already more than 300 companies are in the underwater exploration race though it has been 10 years since the world's first nuclear powered vessel, the submarine Nautilus, put to sea off Groton, Conn.

Newest nuclear subs, such as the Polaris - firing Casimir Pulaski, and the blimp-shaped Skipjack, can go even deeper, travel faster, and remain submerged much longer than the historic Nautilus could.

The unbelievable accomplishments of our nuclear subs are well known. The Nautilus and the Skate both traveled under the North Pole ice pack. The Seawolf established a record by staying down for 60 days. The Triton traveled around the world submerged in 84 days. The Scorpion remained down for 87 days, all terrific records.

But submarines are by no means the only craft being built for underwater exploration. Our aircraft - aerospace industry has already fixed its sights on the sea. It is working on a deep submersible for prospecting and recovering mineral and aquatic wealth. We are already retrieving such important commodities as oil and sulphur from sea-bottom.

Perhaps the best known of all underwater explorers is Jacques Yves Cousteau of France, who gave us the scuba or aqualung in 1943. Last year, four men spent 10 days 200 feet below in a U. S. Navy Project Sealab. They walked on the bottom of the sea, photographed the floor.

The very latest underwater development was announced at San Diego in March, the combination seaplane - submarine, some day to be a reality.

Oceanographic equipment has been greatly improved in recent years. For instance, we now have depth finders which make soundings while vessels travel at full speed, establishing the fact that the ocean floor is far more rugged than had been previously supposed.

Methods for obtaining long cores of bottom deposits have been much improved. Rocks have been dredged from a depth of 4,355 miles in the Puerto Rico Trench, representing the deepest layer of the Earth's crust. Submarine cameras, color films, and television equipment have also greatly helped oceanographers.

Scientists already are predicting that some day much of the ocean floor will be inhabited. Very soon this "new frontier" will share the headlines with our current space exploration, the race to the Moon.

Yet in spite of these tremendous advances, many ocean phenomena — such as currents and waves — are still incompletely understood.

Princess Is Resting In Arizona

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Britain's Princess Margaret gets a look at the stark beauty of the old West today—and probably a kitchen refrigerator where an invitation to her wedding once was stored.

The princess and her husband, the Earl of Snowdon, arrived Wednesday from Los Angeles for a 4½-day rest to break up their three-week tour of the United States.

No trace of the laryngitis that plagued her in smoggy Los Angeles was present when she made a planeside speech at Davis-Monthan Air Force Base.

Waiting at the plane along with Gov. Sam Goddard were her host, Lewis Douglas, and his wife. Their daughter, Sharmar, and Princess Margaret became close friends when Douglas was ambassador to Great Britain in 1948-50.

So close are the princess and the Douglasses that when they did not reply to her wedding invitation, she sent them another cable.

"What happened," said a friend of the Douglasses, "was that Lew and his wife were in New York and their Mexican help couldn't read the invitation when it arrived at the ranch."

"The help saw the big, red royal seal on the back and thought it might melt. So they put the invitation in the refrigerator."

The Douglasses attended the wedding. They found the first invitation months later, still in the refrigerator.

Tabulations show the employment rate increases steadily for the months of May, June, July, August and September when a peak is reached. It gradually falls from October through March.

By way of comparison, the industrial payroll weekly average for 1963 was $97.68. In 1964 the figure jumped to $100.89.

According to the report, average weekly earnings increased for each of the various industrial groups, with the exception of contract construction. In 1963 the weekly average for contract construction workers was $116.26. Last year's was $109.31.

The greatest increase was shown among manufacturing employees. In 1963 the average weekly earnings were $112.61. It increased to $118.97 in 1964.

TV Senior Wins Peace Speech Test

BILL DORE

A Teays Valley High School senior, Bill Dore, won the 41st annual county Prince of Peace Speech Contest.

The contest was held at the Calvary EUB Church in Circleville. Winning this contest makes Bill eligible to compete in the district contest to be held on Nov. 28. The topic of Bill's speech was "This Is Our War."

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Dore, 164 Powell Street, Ashville. He has been quite active in dramatics and plans to major in speech and hearing therapy at Ohio University.

The alternate for the contest was Miss Brenda Mills. She represented the First Methodist Church of Circleville and is a student at Logan Elm High School.

Senior Class Attends Trial

Oct. 31, was a day in court for the seniors of Logan Elm. They made an all day trip to Circleville to witness the Keaton first-degree murder trial.

The class left school at 8:30 a. m. and traveled by car and bus to arrive at the courtroom by 8:45. The court came to session at 9:15. The prosecuting attorney and the defense attorney gave their opening statements. Several witnesses testified during the morning. The seniors left at approximately 12:30 p. m. for lunch at the Pickaway Arms. They arrived back at the trial at 1 p. m. and heard the doctor's testimony. They left the courtroom at 3:05, and returned to school. Each of the students seemed to find the experience valuable.

Industrial Arts at WF

By ALLENE SMITH

The study of Industrial Arts in the school program is a natural outgrowth of our changing times. Such information once obtained through the home has become one of the essentials of education in modern times.

Since there is little or no opportunity for boys in the Westfall Community to familiarize themselves with industry, it is natural then that we have as our goal the guidance of our industrial society.

TV Seniors High Scorers On Ohio Test

Vicky Pettibone and Gary Bartholomew, two Teays Valley seniors, were among the 109 students receiving high scores on the Ohio History objective test.

Of the 7,707 students who took the test, only 109 received scores which would make them eligible to take the essay test to be administered on Nov. 19 and 20 at Ohio University.

Vicky and Gary will be taking the essay test shortly after their arrival on campus. Following the exam, they will be treated to a banquet and will be able to go swimming, play games, or go to a movie. On Saturday the students will be touring the campus, attending an Awards Assembly, and eating lunch. All expenses, including traveling expenses, are paid by Ohio University.

Vicky is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Pettibone and Gary is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bartholomew. The alternate for the two is Mark Phillips, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Phillips.

Carrier Pilots Depend On Landing Signal Aides

ABOARD AIRCRAFT CARRIER MIDWAY (AP) — The time was when landing signal officers aboard aircraft carriers were a colorful looking bunch. They were the brightly attired guys armed with paddles who coaxed pilots down onto the deck.

The bright suits and paddles are no more. A large bank of electrically synchronized red and green lights now tells pilots whether they are too high or too low.

The landing signal officers are still at their posts, however, almost on the carrier's stern at the port side. And the job is no less important.

An officer on the Midway noted:

"Often they just talk to the new pilots—young ones who get nervous—and give them confidence."

Talking on two telephones, one to the approaching airplane and one to other signal personnel perched high up in a glassed-in enclosure on the ship's superstructure, the LSO's advise pilots that:

"The deck's hot. Now it's clear."

"She's pitching a little and rolling some."

"You're doing fine. Bring her on in."

Occasionally, a plane hits the very end of the flight deck, the "ramp," as the carrier people call it.

To provide for this emergency, the Navy has rigged a large, heavy wire mesh net over the side for the landing signal officers to leap into.

"If one hits," advised Lt. (J.G.) Tom Murray, St. Clair, Mo., "don't be the last one in."

Lt. Cmdr. Verne Jumper, Los Angeles, added: "But don't be the first one in either. These other guys weigh too much."

As they discussed the possibility of imminent disaster, Lt. Bill Clark, Los Angeles, stood on deck almost in the path of an approaching plane, looking for all the world like a bull fighter bringing a dangerous bull in past him.

If planes seemed to be angling in too close to the port side, Clark moved toward them as if to force them over physically. When they seemed to be too far to the other side, he crowded his side of the ship as if to pull them over magnetically.

After the planes are properly lined up, they have a target of four heavy cables called "arresting wires" that snag a hook on the airplane's tail.

Up in the glassed-in tower a Navy enlisted man's sole duty is to call out to sailors below decks how much pressure to apply on drums connected to the arresting cables.

Maximum tension is set to pull up three Sky Warrior jets, nicknamed Whales because of their size. Much less tension is applied to stop the little propeller-driven Skyraiders that are called Spads after the famous fighter plane of World War I.

Pilots have implicit faith in the men on deck who bring them in. One reason they have is that all the LSO's are pilots themselves. The job is rotated through the various squadrons on the ship.

"It's the second best job aboard," Clark said. "Flying's the best, of course."

North Burma Floods Bring Death to 34

RANGOON, Burma (AP) — Floods in northern Burma have killed 34 persons and driven 5,000 from their homes, press reports said today.

The Guardian said the Yame-thin District, 350 miles north of Rangoon, was hit hardest.

With 12,000 acres of rice flooded, property damage was estimated at more than $1 million.

'Reasoning' Is Added to Basic 3 R's

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—"To the three R's once considered the basic cornerstones of education, we must now add a fourth 'R'—reasoning," a science education administrator has told the Ohio School Boards Association.

Speaking at the 10th annual meeting of the OSBA, Sanford Eisler, supervisor of science for Cleveland's schools, said the old methods of teaching by rote, recitation and strict memorization of masses of facts will not suffice.

"Our young people will have to be able to make decisions," Eisler said. "Science courses, in the future, must be taught to develop in our young people the ability of learning how to learn."

Another speaker, Canton Asst. School Supt. Lloyd W. Dull, also noted the "complete revolution in science and mathematics instruction" in grade and high schools.

Dull said, "the new findings and frontiers in the social disciplines must always have concern for democracy and the democratic man."

AFL Moves Against Grid 'Baby-Sitting'

NEW YORK (AP) — Seeking to solve what it calls a baby-sitting problem, the American Football League has set Nov. 20 for its college draft and once again has incurred the wrath of college officials.

As a result of the AFL move Wednesday, the National League says it may be forced to change its mind and follow the younger league in holding an early draft.

The AFL action, announced by Commissioner Joe Foss, ignited the college-pro controversy all over again. The dispute raged last year over alleged secret drafts, player-hiding, early signings and double signings.

Following that extended battle, both pro leagues told the National Collegiate Athletic Association they would refrain from signing players before their eligibility had ended. The NCAA also asked that the drafts be held no earlier than Nov. 27, the last big Saturday of college football.

Foss said Nov. 20 was selected for two reasons.

"First, it is the day on which a majority of college teams complete their schedules," he said. "And, further, I personally feel that drafting on the 20th will go a long way toward eliminating so-called baby-sitting practices which have sprung up the last two years."

"A number of unsavory situations came to light from the practice of players being hidden away for several days prior to the last two drafts. I think it's in the best interest of all that we do our best to try and eliminate an increasingly unhealthy situation."

But James Corbett of Louisiana State, chairman of the NCAA and its member colleges, didn't take that view.

"The AFL action," he said, "makes a mockery of that league's agreement with the NCAA and its member colleges. A draft as early as Nov. 20 can only be a completely negative morale factor since there will be increased pressure on the drafted player, on his team and on his college — at exactly the wrong time."

Foss, however, said the AFL would not violate the NCAA's primary concern over early signings.

"We just want a chance to contact the players and make our sales pitch," he added. "We understand the NFL has made elaborate plans again for baby-sitting with prospects and we want to get the chance to talk with these prospects."

Commissioner Pete Rozelle of the NFL didn't say anything about the baby-sitting charges but he did say the league tentatively is planning its draft for Nov. 27, "in accordance with the wishes of colleges and universities."

"However, we may be forced to draft much sooner if others fail to honor requests."

Maine Closes Gap In Football Poll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Unbeaten Maine has closed the gap in its bid to replace North Dakota State as the nation's small-college football leader.

The Black Bears trail North Dakota State by only 18 points in the latest balloting by a special panel of 14 regional experts in the weekly Associated Press poll. Maine was 41 points behind a week ago.

In the most recent vote based on games through last Saturday, North Dakota State collected six votes for first place and 103 points. Maine polled 83 points followed by Los Angeles State 64, Middle Tennessee 59 and Long Beach State, 55.

CHS Tigers Face Portsmouth West; Ramey Sidelined

Circleville High School moves into its final game of the season Friday, hosting Portsmouth West, without the services of veteran fullback Mike Ramey.

Ramey suffered a knee injury last week in the game against Franklin Heights. He definitely will not see action Friday.

Filling in for the bruising senior will be Tom Jenkins, who has assumed a utility role this year, and freshman Eddie Wells.

Jenkins played fullback as a freshman. Last year he was switched to end.

THIS season he started at end, but has filled in capably at tackle for the Tigers in the absence of Mike Wells and Gary Hughes.

Both Hughes and Wells are expected to be healthy for the final game.

Starting at quarterback for Circleville will be sophomore Bob Tootle. But Coach Paul Starr indicated Danny Gibbs,

11 Nations Send Golfers To Mexico

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Top golf players from 11 countries, including rookie of the year Homero Blancas of Houston, Tex., launch the Mexican National Open championship for the Seagram Cup today.

The 72-hole tournament will be played on the 6,800-yard, par 72 Bellavista Club course, hosting the national championship for the first time.

Blancas, recovering from a tonsil operation, set the pattern for the international field with a practice five - under - par 67 Wednesday.

Blancas has $30,000 in winnings to his credit already in the first year in professional ranks. The 27-year-old newcomer shot a brilliant 32 on the front nine, despite the fact he has been sidelined for the last two weeks because of his operation.

Sports experts claim competition in the National Open is the fiercest in the 21-year history of the contest.

Among the leaders are Art Wall Jr., who won the Seagram Cup last year and set a tournament record; Gene Littler fourth highest money winner of all time; Spain's Ramon Sota, who added the Brazilian Open title to the French and Spanish Open this year; Canada's PGA champion Wilf Homenik; 1965 Caracas Open winner Al Besselink, and many others.

Mighty 'O' Is Jinx to Knicks '5'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Wizard of Oz led the New York Knickerbockers through Wonderland again and he's got Harry Gallatin about ready to start talking back to that looking glass.

The Wizard goes under the name of Oscar Robertson and he players backcourt for the Cincinnati Royals. But he's the Wizard all right. Just ask Gallatin and the rest of the National Basketball Association coaches whose clubs must play the Royals.

Oscar had a routine night against the Knickerbockers Wednesday. He scored 41 points and tacked on 17 assists as the Royals handed New York its 14th straight, 124-119.

The Knicks, who play like a jinxed club in Cincinnati, opened an 11-point lead in the second period but saw it whither away under a surge by Robertson and Co.

Jerry Lucas helped the Big O, scoring 28 points and pulling down 21 rebounds. Dick Barnett led New York with 35.

Jerry West and Elgin Baylor combined for 70 points between them as Los Angeles ripped Detroit 133-125 and Baltimore stood off a late St. Louis surge and beat the Hawks 124-117 in the only other NBA games played Wednesday.

Tulsa End Tops All Pass-Catchers

NEW YORK (AP) — Howard Twilley, Tulsa's pass-catching whiz, continues to pull away in record-breaking fashion from his major college football opposition in scoring and pass receiving.

The 5-foot-10 end caught 15 passes and scored 36 points on five touchdowns, a two-point conversion and four conversion kicks against Louisville Saturday.

This makes him first in scoring with 110 points and tops in pass receiving with 106 grabs and 14 touchdowns and 1,486 yards. In scoring, his runner-up is Roy Shivers of Utah State with 90. In pass catching, his closest rival is John Love of North Texas State with 64.

Arfon's Racer Due To Be Repaired

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Land speed champion Art Arfons says his damaged jet racer will be repaired for a new speed run—this time aiming at 600 miles per hour.

Arfons, who set the world's land speed record Sunday, said Wednesday, "We've examined the car and damage isn't as serious as we had originally thought."

Arfons turned 576 m.p.h. in his "Green Monster" before it was wrecked on the Bonneville Slats Flats in Utah.

Coach Mike Holovak of the Boston Patriots knows exactly how halfback Joe Bellino feels in trying to win a berth at the age of 27 on the American Football League club. Holovak was an All-America player at Boston College in 1942 and then went into the Navy. After World War II, he joined the Chicago Bears, playing both offense and defense. Bellino, an All-America at Navy in 1960, recently was released as a Naval officer.

Age Catches Up with Sugar Ray

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Sugar Ray Robinson is near the end of the road but the roar of the crowd still makes sweet music in his ears. The fight with young Joey Archer Wednesday night may have been his last stop.

The Harlem dandy wants to think it over for a day or two before he makes up his mind.

The Sugar Man retired way back in 1952 and stayed away for two years. After he came back he won and lost the world middleweight title three times. But the skills that earned him the reputation of the best fighter pound-for-pound in all ring history have faded.

His dream of winning the championship for the sixth time must have vanished in thin air after his game effort but decisive defeat by the 27-year old New York Irishman.

It is Archer's turn to scream "we want Dick Tiger." Chances are he'll get that shot at the middleweight crown. Teddy Brenner, the Madison Square Garden matchmaker, wants to make it for March in New York.

Archer knocked down Robinson for a nine-count in the fourth round to the surprise of the Civic Arena crowd of 9,023 that paid a gross gate of $40,913.

He rocked the tired body of the faded ex-champion time after time and almost put him away in the 10th round.

All three officials voted for him — referee Buck McTernan 48-41, judge Ernie Sesto 49-40 and judge George Lupinacci 50-39. The AP card was 48-41.

When the final bell rang the cheers were for Sugar Ray, who claims to be 44 although the record books carry his age at 45. They weren't applauding because they thought Robinson had won.

They were paying a tribute to a gallant stand by an old man who was still trying to knock out the kid with one big punch. He had only one big round, the third.

The truth of the matter is that Robinson's once potent punch has lost its zip. He raked Archer with left hooks and combinations as he punished Randy Turpin, Gene Fullmer, Jake Lamotta, Rocky Graziano, Carmen Basilio and all the others in the good old days.

Nothing happened. Archer shook off the bombs and pecked away with that stiff left jab that forced the old boy to apply ice packs to his cheeks in his dressing room.

Mays Named MVP Again; He'd Rather Have Pennant

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Just by winning the 1965 National League Most Valuable Player Award, Willie Mays has set another record.

For it was 11 years ago that the San Francisco Giants' center fielder last captured the MVP. And no player in baseball history has had to wait that long between.

Joe DiMaggio, another famous center fielder from San Francisco, once waited eight years between MVP's when he was with the New York Yankees.

"It's just wonderful to be chosen with so many good ball players around," said Mays when notified he had won Wednesday. "It's especially good because we didn't win a pennant. But I'd rather have won the pennant than the award."

The 34-year-old Mays, whose Giants finished two games behind Los Angeles, polled 224 points in the balloting announced in Boston by the Baseball Writers Association of America.

Sandy Koufax, the left-handed unanimous Cy Young Award choice as Most Valuable Pitcher, got 177 points for his 26-8 record and two Series victories. Maury Wills, the Dodger shortstop, received 164 points on the ballots from two writers in each of the 10 National League cities. Ken Boyer, 1964 MVP while with the St. Louis Cardinals, got no votes and no points.

Mays, only player named on all ballots, received nine first-place votes, 10 seconds and one third in becoming the fifth man to win the Award twice.

Mays led the majors with a personal high of 52 homers and led the National League with 360 total bases and a .645 slugging average. He batted across 112 runs and hit for a .317 average.

"Beating Koufax is a great thrill," he said. "I thought I'd be a candidate because this was one of my best years and I didn't think I'd be left out."

Mays carried the Giants through August by hitting 17 homers, a league record. San Francisco then won 14 in a row in September and took over first place only to fall back later in the race of a 13-game Los Angeles victory string.

Home run No. 52 came on the last day of the season and set a club record. It left him with 505 career homers, only six less than the National League mark of 511 by ex-Giant Mel Ott.

"I tried from the first punch to knock him out," said Robinson, a forlorn figure on a bench. "The knockdown was the difference. He caught me off balance with a right hand."

Is this the end?

"You'll have to ask my manager," said Robinson pointing to George Gairford.

"We'll decide in a couple of days," said the sweaty Emperor. Later, in a dark corridor, Gairford nodded his head and said, "Age catches up to every body."

Around the corner and down the hall, the Archer boys, Joey and his brother, Jimmy, who acts as his manager, were yelling for Tiger. But first, Joey had a kind word for Ray.

"He's still a great champion," said Joey. "He went out like a champ. I can see why they said he was so great. I learned something fighting him."

It was Robinson's 14th fight of the year and his fifth defeat.

AFL Moves Against Grid 'Baby-Sitting'

NEW YORK (AP) — Seeking to solve what it calls a baby-sitting problem, the American Football League has set Nov. 20 for its college draft and once again has incurred the wrath of college officials.

As a result of the AFL move Wednesday, the National League says it may be forced to change its mind and follow the younger league in holding an early draft.

The AFL action, announced by Commissioner Joe Foss, ignited the college-pro controversy all over again. The dispute raged last year over alleged secret drafts, player-hiding, early signings and double signings.

Following that extended battle, both pro leagues told the National Collegiate Athletic Association they would refrain from signing players before their eligibility had ended. The NCAA also asked that the drafts be held no earlier than Nov. 27, the last big Saturday of college football.

Foss said Nov. 20 was selected for two reasons.

"First, it is the day on which a majority of college teams complete their schedules," he said. "And, further, I personally feel that drafting on the 20th will go a long way toward eliminating so-called baby-sitting practices which have sprung up the last two years."

"A number of unsavory situations came to light from the practice of players being hidden away for several days prior to the last two drafts. I think it's in the best interest of all that we do our best to try and eliminate an increasingly unhealthy situation."

But James Corbett of Louisiana State, chairman of the NCAA and its member colleges, didn't take that view.

"The AFL action," he said, "makes a mockery of that league's agreement with the NCAA and its member colleges. A draft as early as Nov. 20 can only be a completely negative morale factor since there will be increased pressure on the drafted player, on his team and on his college — at exactly the wrong time."

Foss, however, said the AFL would not violate the NCAA's primary concern over early signings.

"We just want a chance to contact the players and make our sales pitch," he added. "We understand the NFL has made elaborate plans again for baby-sitting with prospects and we want to get the chance to talk with these prospects."

Commissioner Pete Rozelle of the NFL didn't say anything about the baby-sitting charges but he did say the league tentatively is planning its draft for Nov. 27, "in accordance with the wishes of colleges and universities."

"However, we may be forced to draft much sooner if others fail to honor requests."

Maine Closes Gap In Football Poll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Unbeaten Maine has closed the gap in its bid to replace North Dakota State as the nation's small-college football leader.

The Black Bears trail North Dakota State by only 18 points in the latest balloting by a special panel of 14 regional experts in the weekly Associated Press poll. Maine was 41 points behind a week ago.

In the most recent vote based on games through last Saturday, North Dakota State collected six votes for first place and 103 points. Maine polled 83 points followed by Los Angeles State 64, Middle Tennessee 59 and Long Beach State 55.

CHS Tigers Face Portsmouth West; Ramey Sidelined

Circleville High School moves into its final game of the season Friday, hosting Portsmouth West, without the services of veteran fullback Mike Ramey.

Ramey suffered a knee injury last week in the game against Franklin Heights. He definitely will not see action Friday.

Filling in for the bruising senior will be Tom Jenkins, who has assumed a utility role this year, and freshman Eddie Wells.

Jenkins played fullback as a freshman. Last year he was switched to end.

This season he started at end, but has filled in capably at tackle for the Tigers in the absence of Mike Wells and Gary Hughes.

Both Hughes and Wells are expected to be healthy for the final game.

Starting at quarterback for Circleville will be sophomore Bob Tootle. But Coach Paul Starr indicated Danny Gibbs, junior signal caller who has started most of the Tiger games, should see plenty of action.

Tiger scouting reports indicate Portsmouth West ranks with the best teams the Red and Black has faced this year.

Across the front line, the invaders will average about 195 pounds. Although the visitors have no exceptionally big lineman, they have no particularly small boys.

Primarily a running team, the ball carrying duties are shared by a pair of big, hardrunning backs.

SCOUTS likened both Portsmouth West backs to Miami Trace's bruising fullback Bob Gifford, a consistent ground-gainer for the Panthers. The visitors usually pass eight or nine times a game.

At Portsmouth West last year, Circleville won 41-14. The CHS coaching staff hopes for but does not exactly expect a repeat of that performance.

Circleville Fall Sports Fete Scheduled at 4-H Building

The annual Circleville High School Fall Sports Banquet will be held Nov. 18 in the 4-H and Grange Building. It was announced today by the school administration.

The speaker for the fete will be Robert Bronson, athletic director at Ashland College. Activities will start at 6:30 p. m.

The Circleville Booster and Booster Auxiliary annually sponsor the fete.

11 Nations Send Golfers To Mexico

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Top golf players from 11 countries, including rookie of the year Homero Blancas of Houston, Tex., launch the Mexican National Open championship for the Seagram Cup today.

The 72-hole tourney will be played on the 6,800-yard, par 72 Bellavista Club course, hosting the national championship for the first time.

Blancas, recovering from a tonsil operation, set the pattern for the international field with a practice five-under-par 67 Wednesday.

Blancas has $30,000 in winnings to his credit already in the first year in professional ranks. The 27-year-old newcomer shot a brilliant 32 on the front nine, despite the fact he has been sidelined for the last two weeks because of his operation.

Sports experts claim competition in the National Open is the fiercest in the 21-year history of the contest.

Among the leaders are Art Wall Jr., who won the Seagram Cup last year and set a tournament record; Gene Littler, fourth highest money winner of all time; Spain's Ramon Sota who added the Brazilian Open title to the French and Spanish Open this year; Canada's PGA champion Wilf Homenuik; 1965 Caracas Open winner Al Bessellink, and many others.

Mighty 'O' Is Jinx to Knicks '5'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Wizard of Oz led the New York Knickerbockers through Wonderland again and he's got Harry Gallatin about ready to start talking back to that looking glass.

The Wizard goes under the name of Oscar Robertson and he plays backcourt for the Cincinnati Royals. But he's the Wizard all right. Just ask Gallatin and the rest of the National Basketball Association coaches whose clubs must play the Royals.

Oscar had a routine night against the Knickerbockers Wednesday. He scored 41 points and tacked on 17 assists as the Royals handed New York its 14th straight, 124-119.

The Knicks, who play like a jinxed club in Cincinnati, opened an 11-point lead in the second period but saw it whither away under a surge by Robertson and Co.

Jerry Lucas helped the Big O, scoring 28 points and pulling down 21 rebounds. Dick Barnett led New York with 35.

Jerry West and Elgin Baylor combined for 70 points between them as Los Angeles ripped Detroit 133-125 and Baltimore stood off a late St. Louis surge and beat the Hawks 124-117 in the only other NBA games played Wednesday.

Tulsa End Tops All Pass-Catchers

NEW YORK (AP) — Howard Twilley, Tulsa's pass-catching whiz, continues to pull away in record-breaking fashion from his major college football opposition in scoring and pass receiving.

The 5-foot-10 end caught 15 passes and scored 36 points on five touchdowns, a two-point conversion and four conversion kicks against Louisville Saturday.

This makes him first in scoring with 110 points and tops in pass receiving with 106 grabs and 14 touchdowns and 1,486 yards. In scoring, his runner-up is Roy Shivers of Utah State with 90. In pass catching, his closest rival is John Love of North Texas State with 64.

THE FALL Sports Banquet honors members of the cross country and football teams.

The CHS Boosters will present a trophy to the participant selected by the coaching staff as the "most valuable" member of the team.

In addition, the Hall-Adkins Legion Post officials present an award to the griddier they select as "lineman of the year."

AFL Player Honors Go to Ailing Fullback

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It's a good thing for the rest of the league that Keith Lincoln still has a sore right foot. The San Diego Chargers' fullback only scored three touchdowns and passed for another last week. Imagine what he would have done if he had been healthy?

For this fine performance against the Denver Broncos in a 35-21 victory, Lincoln was named today The Associated Press' Offensive Player of the Week in the American Football League.

Age Catches Up with Sugar Ray

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Sugar Ray Robinson is near the end of the road but the roar of the crowd still makes sweet music in his ears. The fight with young Joey Archer Wednesday night may have been his last stop.

Big Aluminum Firms Retreat on Price Boost

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three of the nation's four big aluminum producers backed down today in the face of stern Johnson administration opposition and canceled price increases the government had called inflationary.

The Aluminum Co. of America—No. 1 in the industry—called it quits Wednesday night by rescinding the increases announced Monday. Reynolds Metals followed two hours later.

Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical Corp., third biggest, joined the procession midmorning today. That firm called the price rises "restorations" and said its action followed "similar cancellations by other major producers."

That left Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp., as the one big holdout at the time.

Alcoa's decision to cancel the price increase was announced at a hastily called night press

Amanda Due To Get New Post Office

Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien announced plans yesterday to acquire a new Post Office at Amanda.

The building in Amanda will be located on the northwest corner of Main and School Sts. Preliminary plans call for 2,213 square feet of floor space, with an area of 4,600 square feet for parking and movement of postal vehicles.

"The new building," O'Brien said, "is designed to carry out the Post Office Department's objective of a more efficient postal service combined with improved working conditions for our employees."

"President Johnson has asked us to exercise frugality in conducting our governmental operations, and we are doing so. New construction, therefore, is being authorized only when it is demonstrated that the need is urgent and no other alternative is available."

The alternatives, O'Brien explained, would involve remodeling of the existing building or moving into other suitable quarters in the same community.

THE Postmaster General said the building will be constructed under the Department's Lease Construction program, with the government's capital investment limited to postal equipment. While leased to the Government, the building will remain under private ownership and the owner will pay local real estate taxes.

Plans and specifications for the new building, as well as bidding forms and other pertinent data, will be made available to prospective bidders at an early date. The Department then will advertise for bids.

The site option will be as signed to the successful bidder, who will purchase the land, construct the building and lease it to the Department.

Veterans . . .

the VFW post in Muscatine, Iowa, said the hope behind the town's parade is that it "will offset some of the publicity being given to the demonstrations against U.S. policy in Viet Nam." Bremer County, Iowa, veterans are calling their parade a "walk for the men in Viet Nam."

The national headquarters of the American Legion distributed 10 million lapel pin flags for "Operation Show Your Colors." Each pin comes with a card saying "Americans are serving the cause of freedom in Viet Nam. I wear my country's flag to show that I support their efforts."

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey laid a wreath for President Johnson on the Tomb of the Unknowns in Arlington National Cemetery across the Potomac River from the nation's capital.

In prepared remarks, the vice president said: "We are in Viet Nam to keep a commitment established by international treaty. We are there because, once again in history, it must be proved to aggressors that the price of their aggression comes far too high."

"We will remain in Viet Nam until a just and lasting peace can be established there."

Secretary of the Navy Paul H. Nitze, speaking at a Veterans Day ceremony in Welch, W.Va., said in a prepared address that veterans "keenly understand why we will not now abandon the Republic of Viet Nam. Our veterans' entreaty no doubt that we will prevail in the cause of freedom."

Nitze said American veterans have "learned in the hardest of all schools that weakness is only an invitation to attack, and that retreat can bring in its wake even more deadly dangers."

The Anchorettes, Wichita State University's Navy women's drill team, who spent the week collecting signatures in support of U.S. servicemen, lead off a Veterans Day parade in Wichita, Kan.

Wichita Mayor William Tarrant has issued a proclamation dubbed "Operation Boost," calling for a moment of silent prayer at 11 a.m. for the success and safety of U.S. military forces everywhere.

Gov. Edward T. Breathitt leads the Veterans Day parade at Frankfort, Ky., then receives a petition in support of U.S. Viet Nam policy. The names were collected at the polls on election day last Tuesday.

Wringer Cause Of Hand Injury

Mark Morrison, 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Morrison, Route 1, Stoutsville, received emergency care in Berger Hospital yesterday after he caught his left hand in the wringer of a washing machine at home. Three persons were treated and released.

Barry Weaver, 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Weaver, 463 Half Ave., suffered a laceration above his right eye.

Nathan Dorsey, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vinton Dorsey, 413 Ruth Ave., lacerated his tongue.

Identities Of Bodies Sought

CINCINNATI (AP) — Work continued today on two grim tasks resulting from Monday night's jetliner crash near here—identifying the bodies of 58 victims and trying to determine what caused the disaster. Four survivors are recovering in hospitals.

A spokesman for the Civil Aeronautics Board said it may be months before investigators know for certain what caused American Airlines flight 383—a Boeing 727—to plow into a hillside near Constance, Ky., not far from Greater Cincinnati Airport.

The jetliner's flight recorder was found in the charred wreckage Tuesday and rushed to Washington where CAB experts went to work analyzing its tape.

The Boone County (Ky.) coroner's office says 10 of 49 bodies taken to the morgue at the airport fire house have been positively identified. One man died on the way to a hospital and eight persons are unaccounted for.

"I wouldn't want to say one way or another. That was a terrible fire up there," the CAB spokesman said when asked if it was possible that some bodies might never be recovered.

Dry Cement Silo Nearly Kills Man

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Again and again, the dry cement that trapped Robert Ford in a silo almost engulfed him until dogged rescue workers saved his life after a five-hour ordeal.

The dramatic scene on the Maumee River banks commenced when Ford, 28, of the Huron Portland Cement Co., crawled into the 70-foot high structure to unclog a porthole Wednesday.

An avalanche of dry cement stored in the silo buried him up to his neck.

Firemen and other rescuers laid planks through the porthole, the only entrance, and eventually got a rope around Ford. But they had to shovel feverishly to clear away the cement and at one time employed vacuum cleaners.

He was taken to a Toledo hospital in fair condition, and later transferred to a hospital in Monroe, Mich., his home town.

Brown, Cloud Ready To Toss In Their Hats

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Two more Republican Statehouse officials have indicated they will announce for re-election within a few days. They are Lt. Gov. John W. Brown and State Auditor Roger Cloud.

Brown will seek a fourth term. Cloud will seek his first elected term. He was first appointed to fill the unexpired term of the late Roger W. Tracy. Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe has already announced his candidacy for re-election.

Mystery of Blackout Still Probed

NEW YORK (AP) — The nation's populous Northeast struggled today to return to normal as government agencies sought an answer to the paralyzing power failure.

Businesses and transportation facilities, crippled by the 10-hour blackout that spread across seven states and into Canada Tuesday night, hopefully looked to near normal operations today.

Power conservation is being observed in New York City, hardest hit by the massive technological breakdown. Full power is not expected to be restored for several days.

The Veterans Day holiday is contributing to the return to normal. Schools, government facilities, banks and some businesses are closed today—granting a day's grace to New York's heavily taxed transit operations. The closed facilities also will require far less power.

Cause of the historic blackout remains as dark as the blackout itself, but state and federal agencies are making intensive investigations.

James A. Lundy, chairman of the New York Public Service Commission, said he was confident the reason for the failure will be uncovered. It apparently originated in Upstate New York.

Uppermost in the minds of government and industry leaders is the prevention of a recurrence. Some warned that it could happen again unless the cause is tracked down and eliminated.

Mayor-elect John V. Lindsay of New York City called Wednesday for better citywide communications to help cope with such emergencies. He also suggested that the city consider creating an independent emergency power system.

In Washington, government and industry experts on power system operations seek in closed sessions today the cause of the power failure through a study of utility operation records.

Chairman Joseph C. Swidler of the Federal Power Commission, acting on direction of President Johnson to make a sweeping investigation to pinpoint the cause and come up with recommendations to avoid a recurrence, said Wednesday he expected a preliminary report would be made to the President by the weekend.

But Swidler said it may be difficult to determine the exact cause.

Welfare Subsidies Listed by Auditor

Assistance subsidies paid to Pickaway County's Welfare Department during fiscal 1965 amounted to $176,303 according to a report from the office of Roger Cloud, state auditor.

A breakdown of this payment included $96,038 for the dependent children program; $12,535 for poor relief; $48,088 for the disabled; and; and $19,642 in aid for the blind.
